Ballock: Expansion nix may be costly

At its regular meeting in November, the Emmons Grade School Board elected officers and considered options in light of the referendum defeat.

After a review of referendum results in which both building bonds and educational tax rate issues were defeated, board members decided not to conduct referendum in March, 1990.

Other options such as consolidation and formation of an Antioch area unit district were considered. The board has invited Sybil Yastrow, regional superintendent of schools, to the January meeting to delineate the advantages and disadvantages of consolidation/unification.

Supt. Jill Ballock noted that the referendum issue presented to the voters on Nov. 7 focused on the future independence of the district.

"Since consolidation has always been an option, we asked the voters if they wanted to continue the local control by approving an addition to the building. What they told us is that independence of this one-school district may not be a priority."

Ballock noted that the education tax rates of both Grass Lake and Antioch Dist. 34 school districts are higher than Emmons. In the event of consolidation, the higher tax rate would apply.

"It is ironic that Emmons residents, in voting no on Nov. 7, may end up with a higher tax rate, anyway, if consolidation occurs," said Ballock.

The board unanimously elected officers:

John Peikus, president; Pam Pierson, vice-president; and Sandy Steffenburg, secretary. Janet Quist was designated as SEDOL representative and Lou Korom will serve as IASB liaison.

In other business the board reviewed Heron Harbor and Antioch Golf Club developments. Board members stated that these two proposed subdivisions will have a severe enrollment impact on Emmons School. Raising developers' donations and seeking additional assistance with development was discussed.

Antioch's Christmastime starts this Friday night

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, specifically its retail committee, and the Antioch Parks and Recreation Dept., are getting ready to start the ball rolling on a real "Hometown Christmas."

The holidays will officially kick-off this Friday evening with the Parks' Christmas parade.

The parade will start from the parking lot of Antioch Community High School at 7 p.m., marching down Main St. to Orchard St.

Then Antioch's Mayor Robert Wilton will press the button that will light the village Christmas trees in front of the village hall.

Santa, who will be leading the parade, will then be available to area youngsters at Santa's Castle on Toft St., just across from the rear of the village hall, where he will give each child a present.

Santa will be available for a visit from then to Christmas, at the castle where his missus will join him, Mondays through Fridays, from 5 to 8 p.m., and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., on Saturdays and Sundays.

As part of the old fashioned "Hometown Christmas," there will be chaperoned hayrides and carriage rides on the side streets in the downtown area, from 6 to 9 p.m. on Fridays; from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m., on Saturdays.

KIDS AREN'T THE ONLY ONES WITH GROWING PAINS.

Introducing Adult Mental Health Services.

Change isn't easy at any age. And sometimes dealing with the challenges of growing older can become overwhelming.

To help you get through those tough periods of adjustment, Victory Memorial Hospital has created an innovative new mental health unit for adults of all ages.

Our unit offers two distinctive programs; one for adults, and another—the first of its type in Lake County—for seniors. Both programs follow individualized treatment philosophies. They are based on a holistic approach to patient recovery, promoting self-help and the return to a healthy lifestyle. The home-like atmosphere, and warm, supportive environment, set the stage for programs designed to meet the physical, psychological and spiritual needs of each patient. And the unit's in-hospital setting allows patients access to any of our medical services.

Growing pains don't end with adolescence, but with our help they don't have to go on forever.

Volo gets chance to incorporate

by JAMES N. MANTZOROS
Lakeland Newspapers

There still is a chance that residents of the crossroads community of Volo might realize their dreams by seeing their lands incorporated as the Village of Volo.

The dream was originally sparked by Father Lyons, who is the priest at the village's historical Catholic Church of St. Peter's, and the business community.

Despite the fact that Lakemoor has made plans to take them (Volo) under their wing, Volo did some homework on their own and had an amendment put on a couple of bills down in Springfield. These amendments are currently on the governor's desk and it is expected he will sign them. This will allow the people of Volo to file for a referendum between now and July 1, of next year.

There is no question that all the people that have been involved in the Volo incorporation just wanted to allow the Volo residents the right to decide their own destiny.

The need for this special action by the state legislature was necessary because current state statutes call for a minimum of 2,500 residents in order to incorporate.

Volo does not have 2,500 people; they have less than one half that number. Furthermore, there is a provision in the state statute that if there are fewer than 7,500 people in an area requesting incorporation, any existing municipality within one and a half miles may effectively veto the incorporation.

This newly approved legislation awaiting the governor's approval addresses itself to that provision, and also waives the requirement for a four-square mile area and could even waive the county approval process.

These proceedings were placed into the legislative hopper for more than a year (July, 1988) long before Lakemoor was approached to annex the 288 acres including Volo proper into its orbit.

Sen. Jack Schaffer (R) of Crystal Lake answered questions on the incorporation of Volo in view of the proposed incorporation to Lakemoor. The bill in the Illinois State Legislature sponsored by Schaffer (R) and State Representative Robert Churchill (R) "was intended to allow the people of Volo to have a referendum on whether they wanted to incorporate."

"After we passed the bill the village of Lakemoor being within the one and a half mile radius jurisdiction of Volo refused to give them permission to hold that referendum," Schaffer said.

In the meantime someone else put in a bill to allow Volo to have that referendum whether Lakemoor approved it or not and that bill was passed. The leader learned that this action was taken at the request of Father Lyons of the St. Peter's Church of Volo, but the Wauconda Leader was unable to determine this as phone calls to St. Peter's Church went unanswered.

Grass Lake puts levy at $785,772, no action

During its regular November meeting, the Board of Education of Grass Lake Grade School Dist. 36 estimated a total tax levy at $785,722. The board is expected to take action on approving the levy at the next board meeting scheduled for 7 p.m., on Tuesday, Dec. 12.

Since it was the first meeting after the Nov. 7 election, the board presented plaques acknowledging the service of retiring board members Robert Mattson, who had 12 years of service on the board, four as board president; Judy Hansen for six years of board service and Paul Kitto with four years of service, two as the board vice president.

The board also conducted the official canvass of the votes and the oath of office was administered to the newly elected board members, Julie Groh, Cheryl Henning, Sally Miller and Liz Schmehl.

Board officers were then elected. Donald Grob is the new president, Ardeen Harris the new vice president and Marie Brausam, the secretary.

Henning was appointed delegate to the Ill. Assn. of School Boards with Grob designated alternate.

Groh was appointed delegate to the Governing Board of the Special Education Dist. of Lake County with Miller designated the alternate.

In other business, the board:

— established the second Tuesday of each month, at 7 p.m., as the regular date for the monthly board meetings.

— rescinded the smoke-free policy, directing Supt. Anthony Prezaklasa to identify a designated smoking area for staff members only, inside the school building. — approved the hiring of Carole Classey as a 50 percent time chapter one remedial reading teacher for the rest of the school year.

In final action, the board directed that all substitute help be paid by check and the superintendent told the board that new computer equipment was purchased with funds donated by the graduating Class of 1989.

Prezaklasa also told the board that, as part of Grass Lake's prevention program, a successful Red Ribbon Campaign "My Choice—Drug Free" had been held. He added that Grass Lake was the first grade school in the area to see the anti-drug play, "The Magic Potion," presented at the school by the Antioch Community High School drama class.

Solve Break-In

The Antioch Police Dept. has arrested two Antioch men for the break-in of the Kentucky Fried Chicken on Rte. 173 a year ago. Following a tip on the accused, the Antioch police checked fingerprints found on the broken glass at the fast food site with those of Scott A. Kipker, 18 and William G. Woms, 17. Both gave statements to the police. Both were charged with the burglary of $17 and Kipker was also charged with criminal damage to property.

AARP donates to poor, gets ready for holidays

The Antioch Area Chapt. 387 of the American Assn. of Retired Persons (AARP), with members also from southeastern Wisconsin, observed Canned Goods Day at their November meeting. Verna Youlden was in charge of the event.

Members responded to her appeal for help with many boxes and bags of non-perishable foods and canned products of every type for distribution to the poor families of the Antioch area.

Each year, the Antioch Twp. office delivers baskets of food to the destitute families of the area so they can enjoy Thanksgiving Day.

With the help and generous donations from many of the residents of Antioch and the surrounding area, including organizations such as AARP, they have been able to accomplish this project with a great deal of success each year.

A big thank you is extended to all the folks who contributed to this worthwhile cause.

Members of the chapter also enjoyed a luncheon of chili con carne served by the senior center.

President Arthur Aerne conducted a short business meeting. The program originally scheduled was canceled so members could later enjoy cards and bingo.

Thanksgiving Day will be celebrated at the next meeting on Nov. 28 when luncheon will be catered by Maravillas Restaurant.

Charter members will participate in the Antioch Christmas Parade on Nov. 24.

The All Stars Band ended a successful four-day performance at St. Peter's "Footlights," where they entertained huge crowds each night with their popular variety show of songs, dances and several comic acts.

The band will perform at the annual Christmas party of the chapter on Dec. 12 at Maravillas in Ingleside.

The final sale of tickets for this event will be held at the meeting on Nov. 28. See Blanche Babik and Pearl Roach for this last chance to buy a ticket.

Dean's List

Michael Oilschlager, son of James and Patricia Oilschlager of Antioch, a senior at Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, was on the school's dean's list for the 1988-89 school year. Also on the list was Robert Abbot, a junior, son of Keith and Erla Abbott, Lindenhurst. Both are graduates of Antioch Community High School.

Grass Lake gym show has new star — 'The Coach'

by LIZ SCHMEHL
(708)395-5380

The annual Grass Lake School Gym Show had a new addition this year. "The Coach" gave a glowing dissertation as to all of the various gym activities the students had participated in during gym class sessions thus far.

He also expounded on the fantastic gym activities yet to be conquered by the various gym classes at Grass Lake School. "The Coach" was dressed in an athletic jacket and baseball cap. My opinion is that he must have been a twin brother to the GLS physical education instructor, Steve Bartlett. However, he never revealed his true identity. He only identified himself as "Coach."

After he introduced the program, Bartlett appeared on the gym floor in order to let us know the order of the various gymnastic stunts the youngsters would be performing. The first event was a jump rope demonstration and a rope climbing exhibition. Then, various types of parallel bars were set up and the children showed off their various talents on the bars. There was a continuous line of Grass Lake gymnasts performing on the vault and balance beam. Then they removed the equipment and rolled out the mats for the coordinated tumbling routines. The grade levels of the participants were first through eighth.

Cameras were snapping left and right. Hopefully, there will be a lot of excellent pictures to reproduce in the yearbook.

The program was excellent and the coordination and flexibility of all the students brought back memories of my "youth." Here I sat, watching the children perform with ease, realizing it is an effort for the "old" Lizard to even touch her toes.

There was one thing missing from the show this year, and that was the parent participation at the end. I sure did miss watching Linda Boerman perform her jump rope routine. Oh well, there is always next year!

Thanks from Yearbook
The yearbook committee of Grass Lake School would like to thank the following businesses for their patronage of the 1989-90 Grass Lake School year-available to Lakeland's Wisconsin readers.

Recently, as I related to

book. Because of their generosity, the book can be offered to the students at a reasonable price. When you receive your 1989-90 copy of the book, the committee asks that you notice the patrons listed and offer thanks when doing business with them.

'Thank You' to: C. Halting & Sons, J.J. Blinker Clownin' Around, Skandia Huse, Re/Max Realty-Antioch, The Advertiser, Hautzinger's Floral Acres, First National Bank of Antioch, Diamond Chemical Co., Power Marine, Inland Harbor Marina, Inc., Robert W. Churchill, Don Fectner/Allstate Ins., Osmond Ins. Services, Ltd., Fringe Benefits, Raymond Chevy/Olds, State Bank of Antioch, Diemer Plumbing & Heating, Bob Stengel/State Farm Ins., Dick Witt/State Farm Ins., Cathy Milovanovic/ Mary Kay Cosmetics, Lakes Area Music Center, and Bank of Waukegan/Antioch.

If you would like to be a patron in the GLS yearbook, it isn't too late. Contact me at the above number, or Marie Brausam, Linda Boerman, Julie Groh, Pat Santicemmo or Debbie Mozal for further information. Thanks again, patrons, hope I didn't miss anyone. Breakfast w/Santa Plans are underway for the 1989 GLS Breakfast With Santa. This annual PTO function will be held on Sunday, Dec. 10, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Plans are also in the works to incorporate an arts and crafts area into this special day. If you are interested in obtaining space as a crafter, contact Grass Lake School and they will put you in touch with the proper committee person. This is truly a fun day at Grass Lake School.

So, circle the date on your calendar, and bring the little ones out to visit with Santa to give him their annual wish list.

Losin' it?
I don't know if my Antioch readers realize I have expanded my horizons as a "so-called" journalist. I recently began writing a similar column in the Bi-State Reporter, which is our neighbors to the north, I have been engaged in an aerobic/dieting group. In that column I asked readers to cross their fingers in wishing me luck, to shed some unwanted and unneeded poundage.

Well, people, tonight I put on a pair of jeans that I could not squeeze into a month ago and was actually able to zip them up while standing in a verticle position.

I refuse to get on the scale until Dec. 18, at which time I will either be happy or disappointed in my progress. So, my dear Antioch friends, cross your fingers that the next time I wear these same jeans they will actually become "baggy" on me.

The pounds seem to go on overnight. On the other hand, dieting seems to take forever before one sees results. However, I am doing my best, and if you send me positive vibes or call me with dieting tips I may actually become victorious over my "battle of the bulge!" Etc., etc.

I was quite busy this last week and, therefore, out of the house quite a bit. I must have missed a lot of calls, because when I sat down to write this week's column I realized I didn't have much to report. I'll be looking forward to hearing from you. And when you call, remember to "ask for the Lizard!" Till then, take care.

ACHS Board proposes 15% increase in levy

At the regular meeting of the Antioch High School Board of Education, Chairperson of the budget committee, Jan Ranney, reported on the proposed tax levy for 1989. Upon the recommendation of Business Mgr. Ken Wierschem, the board approved a tentative levy of $6,264,000. This represents a 15.435 percent increase over the 1988 levy. The increase is mainly due to an increase in growth of assessed valuation of property as the tax rate increase is 0.7 percent (less than 1 percent).

Frank Walsh Jr., a member of the Antioch

Community High School Board Growth and Development Committee, informed the board that the formation of the 25 member Growth and Development Advisory Committee is near completion.

The committee, which represents the areas of Dist. 117, will study potential increases in student population at Antioch Community High School. Additionally, the committee will study the options available to the district to provide classroom space for the anticipated increase in enrollment.

After a chairperson is named in the near future, the committee will start their work and are expected to report their recommendations to the board in April of 1990.

Laurel Dahl, chairperson of the board curriculum committee, reported that several curriculum changes were being considered over the next two years. A list of the proposed changes were given to the board members for their review. Final action on the recommendations will take place at the Dec. 21, board meeting.

The board also approved participation in the ALPHA (Adolescents Learning Positive Health Alternatives). The ALPHA Initiative is a prevention program targeted at freshmen students.

Dir. of Pupil Personnel and Antioch Community High School North Central

Assn. Steering Chairperson Pete Pekkari, reviewed the North Central Assn. Visiting Committee schedule for the Dec. 5 — 8 visit. A 25 member team will complete a comprehensive evaluation of all school programs.

In final action, the board approved a request by the Village of Antioch to use the high school parking lot to organize the Christmas parade, which is scheduled for 7 p.m., on Friday, Nov. 24. The board also approved the use of the high school cafeteria for a community blood drive on Dec. 26 from 4 to 7 p.m.

Antioch site for 10th Dollar Video store

The tenth Dollar Video opens its doors to the public in Antioch this month.

In less than two years time, this booming video superstore has blazed a trail throughout the northeast part of the state claiming such sites as McHenry, Round Lake, Crystal Lake, Streamwood and Woodstock.

The founder and inspirational genius behind the Dollar Video philosophy was the late Bob Edwards. The 40-year-old native of Crystal Lake was also the owner of the Crystal Lake Health Food Store. It was through his extensive research into every facet of home video rental business that Dollar Video was created.

These stores are now owned and operated by his brother Jay and other friends and investors. All have willingly learned the business from the bottom up, no task being too menial in the learning process.

The stores boast an inventory of at least 6,000 tapes, which can be rented any day of the week for just one dollar. Nintendo and a large selection of new arrivals are available for a $2 charge.

Geary Smith and his assistant manager, Kevin Hill, head the staff of customer assistants at the Orchard Plaza store. Their continuing goal is customer satisfaction. Free membership, a vast tape inventory, helpful customer assistants and a speedy checkout system are the magic formula that make Dollar Video, 'Home of the $1 Video Rental.'

Village talks cash versus parks from developers

At the village board meeting on Monday, Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton led a discussion on the possibility of getting cash instead of land donations for parks from some developers in the future.

Wilton cited the number of big and small parks already in the village and suggested that cash donations from developers might be used to build a sports/recreation center in the village that could house an indoor swimming pool, ice rink, fitness rooms, etc.

The possibilities of the center being built on the east side of Main St., with the village purchasing the property, or on 7.7 acres on Anita St., on property the village now owns, were discussed.

In other business, the board:

— annexed 6.6 acres of the Kenneth Smith property at the corner of Deep Lake Rd. and Rte. 173.

— announced an agreement between the Ill. Commerce Commission, the Ill. Dept. of Transportation, Wis. Central Railroad and the village concerning the crossing gates at the railroad crossing on Rte. 173 where three Antioch High School students were killed. The signing of the agreement cancels the public hearing set for Nov. 28.

Circuit Judge Walter to run in March, 1990

A reception for Circuit Judge Stephen E. Walter has been scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 30 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Sea Princess restaurant in Libertyville.

Judge Walter has announced that he is a candidate for the Office of Circuit Judge. He is seeking the Republican nomination to fill the vacancy created by Justice Lawrence Inglis' resignation when he became an Appellate Judge. The primary election is scheduled for March 20, 1990.

Judge Walter was appointed as a Circuit Judge by the Supreme Court in Illinois in January, 1989, following an extensive screening procedure by a bi-partisan committee. An honors graduate of the Univ. of Ill. and Northwestern Univ. Law School, Judge Walter was an active trial lawyer in state and federal courts. He was appointed as an Associate Judge in 1985.

Active in his community and church organizations, Judge Walter resides in Fremont Twp. with his wife, Claudia, and their four children.

"I was honored and pleased to be appointed Circuit Judge by the Supreme Court, and I am seeking to continue in the position to which I was appointed. I am very encouraged by the support of my family and friends, fellow attorneys, and the many elected officials who have urged me to run. I will continue to do everything possible to be a good judge and to properly serve the people of Lake County," stated Judge Walter.

Tickets can be obtained by contacting Tom Smoker at (708)662-5800.

White Hens put on alert

White Hen Pantry stores throughout northern Illinois have been alerted to be on the lookout for film scam artists.

Stores in Libertyville, Mundelein and Arlington Heights have been victimized in past weeks.

The latest incident was Nov. 1 at the Mundelein White Hen Pantry, 815 S. Lake St.

Sometime about 1:30 a.m. on Nov. 1 two persons entered the store and told the clerk on duty they were there to inventory film, flash cubes and camera supplies.

They made out an order for $41.50 worth of merchandise. They were paid by the clerk, who was told the order would arrive within a few days.

When the owner came to work the next morning and found the bogus form it was determined the order was fictitious.

Sheriff talks sense

Three priorities stand out for Lake County law enforcement, in the opinion of Sheriff Clinton Grinnell. One is manageable. Grinnell is the first to admit that the other two are out of control.

The traffic problem is a side effect of growth and progress. Traffic headaches are manageable, the county's No. 1 lawman feels, and can be alleviated in such ways as building more roads, adding more traffic enforcement officers, better planning and zoning, and so forth.

Drug abuse and jail overcrowding, Grinnell's other two priorities, are baffling to the serious-minded career policeman. In a soft-spoken, even-handed manner, Grinnell scotches pronouncements that drugs are not a problem hereabouts, as some school officials are wont to do. Lake County's drug problem is pervasive. The drug problem is affecting our way of life, Sheriff Grinnell states bluntly. Grinnell is convinced that the people themselves will have to join the fight against drugs before a turning point can be reached.

As the sheriff spoke at a civic breakfast the other morning at Renwood Golf Course he had only seven beds open in the county's 350-bed jail facility, which is not yet a year old and, that the taxpayers were told, would serve well into the next decade. The sheriff is pushing hard for completion of the two top floors of the Babcox Center which will bring jail capacity in line with recommended guidelines of one bed per 1,000 population, or 500 beds.

Even adding 150 beds won't ease jail overcrowding with today's "lock 'em up" mood, so Grinnell is openly espousing the creation of a minimum security facility to house less dangerous prisoners. He says locating a minimum security institution ranks in popularity with siting Lake County's much needed landfill/incinerator garbage disposal facility and, as such, knows another jail isn't around the corner.

In his low-key, main street manner, Sheriff Grinnell relates a simple story illustrating what the drug problem boils down to: If people stopped buying rubber balls, rubber ball salesmen would leave town in a hurry. The sheriff is absolutely correct. The drug salesmen keep selling because the buyers keep buying. That's what he means by saying the people have the power to clean up the frightening drug mess, not police.

Time for dignity

Need for additional housing expressed by Great Lakes Naval Training Center just might be the plan necessary to silence all the political in-fighting, maneuvering in the private sector and plain sappy suggestions about what to do with Ft. Sheridan if it is to be closed by the Pentagon.

Certainly, needs of the armed forces should be given first consideration. In that case, there still is an important military mission to be filled at Ft. Sheridan. We think the idea of establishing a national cemetery at the 100-year-old installation is one of the more meritorious options voiced since the shocking decision to close the fort was announced.

We're getting sick and tired of hearing the half-baked ideas of Chicago politicians and the phony "offers" of land speculators for Ft. Sheridan's invaluable public property. It's scary. All too often, those off-the-wall proposals have a way of sticking.

Above all, the fort deserves to be treated with dignity.

Letters To The Editor

Cover gravel trucks

Editor:

I am writing this letter to call your attention to a situation which presents a hazard to motorists which could be easily rectified by the enactment of new legislation in the state legislature.

The other day I was unfortunate enough to have the windshield of my automobile damaged by a gravel truck. I stopped the driver and obtained the name and telephone number of the firm as well as the name of the driver. The driver would not give me his telephone number, address or driver's license number to report to my insurance company. I tried in vain to contact the owner of the trucking company, but discovered that the number was an answering service. He would not return my calls even when I asked the service to call him directly and tell him that I would wait all evening for his call. The resultant action was that my insurance company had to pay, while the trucker and company did not suffer a loss.

Last year, when I was in Atlanta, I noticed that all gravel haulers had to put a cover over their loads. This was the law. I would suggest similar legislation in Illinois. I know this will be fought by the truckers, but if you could see the large number of trucks that haul gravel from McHenry into Lake County on Rte. 60 and Peterson Rd. you would be astonished. I would say that at any given time on a week day, I could count nearly 100 per hour. No one uses a cover, even those that have them attached to their trailers.

Information appreciated

Editor:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Mayor Cole M. Akins and the village board of Round Lake Park. I have lived in this village for 15 years, and never do I recall an effort by the village to inform residents of the issues of an upcoming referendum such as I have seen in the past several weeks.

Such measures as holding town meetings on two occasions for the purpose of informing the residents of the issues and facts surrounding the referendum, placing a very visible sign which announced the meetings on the grounds of the village hall, and sending an informative fact sheet along with the bi-monthly water, sewer and garbage bill (which I imagine saved the village mailing costs by not making a separate mailing), to my recollection, have never before been attempted in this town.

By the time this letter reaches the editor's desk, the fate of the referendum will have been decided. Pass or fail, the Round Lake Park village officials can take heart in knowing they have served their constituents well. I appreciate their efforts and hope my applause rings loud and clear!

Protect mature trees

Editor:

Several oak trees were destroyed on the property of Cambridge Homes' newest development east of Rte. 60/83 and south of Rte. 176. These were not scraggly brush, but fully mature oaks.

Residents of the Tullamore neighborhood were saddened to learn that despite verbal assurances that many of the trees would be saved, neither the developer, Richard Brown, nor the Village of Mundelein had any intention to preserve any of the oaks on the western parcel of this property. After several calls from angry residents, the village dispatched an

New preserve stands as gift for everyone

by BILL SCHROEDER

Thanksgiving and Christmas all rolled into one came early this year as far as a group of environmentally sensitive citizens, who know a worthwhile open space bargain when they see it, are concerned.

They are neighbors of Lake County's newest forest preserve, the Duck Farm Forest Preserve on Grand Ave., located between Lindenhurst and Lake Villa.

The 325-acre layout containing a 30-acre glacial lake, 28 acres of wetlands, some tillable land and a forest is designed to be left in a natural state. The county is paying $3.8 million, or about $11,000 per acre, for the former Weber Duck Farm which was appraised at $3.7 million.

The sellers, William "Duke" Weber and his wife, have kept two-and-a-half acres fronting on Sand Lake to build a new home. The Webers believe they would have obtained a higher price selling to a developer, but they are happy to have the land in county hands.

In an unprecedented expression of gratitude, 13 residents of nearby Venetian Village-West Milmare, wrote this column to express their gratitude for the county's purchase of what they call a "priceless heritage we can proudly pass onto our children."

The thankful neighbors saluted the Webers, forest preserve commissioners and Dist. 4 County Board Rep. Suzi Schmidt for her personal lobbying efforts in acquiring for former duck farm.

The signers are: Gerri Meyer, Mark W. Groschopf, Harry E. Wilson, Linda and Hussni Momani, Sur Bero, Anthony P. Bero, Lois A. Stolz, Harry E. Nergard, Arline B. Rapala, Bruno J. Rapala, Wally Hein and Christel Hein.

The letter debunks the picture of forest preserve commissioners as ruthless power-wielding penny pinchers bent on driving land owners from their homes in a starry-eyed quest for open space.

Weber couldn't be more pleased with the deal. "I was a willing seller. I used to hunt. I've always enjoyed walking the land. I'll still be able to do that." Weber said about nine developers contacted him about purchasing the farm for residential or commercial development.

What the purchase stands for is a Christmas present for everyone.

MIXED EMOTIONS—State's Atty. Fred Foreman of Lake County may have second thoughts the next opportunity he has to be a Good Samaritan. Helping some stranded motorists on slippery Washington St. during the season's first heavy snowfall, Foreman was getting ready to pull away when another vehicle bashed into the rear of his car. "Couldn't be helped, it was so slippery, but I sure was happy I had a big, heavy car," Foreman related, noting that some members of the Lake County Board felt he was being extravagant with a Crown Victoria Ford sedan. In nine years in office, Foreman has purchased two cars.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Bob introduced brothers-in-law Mike and Ralph to night life on the Purdue Univ. campus; more correctly, "morning life" because college students don't start socializing until about midnight. The Boilermakers were in an especially festive mood, celebrating their first Big 10 victory of the year so the two visitors got only a few hours of sleep.

Letters Invited

Letters to the editor are welcome. They should be on topics of general interest, approximately 250 words or less. All letters must be signed, and contain home address and telephone number. The editor reserves the right to condense all letters.

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Styrofoam, along with plastic cups and containers is getting a bad rap. Environmentalists say they don't disintegrate in landfills. And if they are burned, they foul the air.

So people, like members of the County Board, are trying to get them phased out of use.

This is happening at Winchester House and the Courthouse where paper plates and cups are being phased in.

Even members of the County Board are setting an example. Several use their own cups instead of county-supplied Styrofoam ones.

Boycotting county cups by using their own are board members Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa, Audrey Nixon of North Chicago, Debra Halas of Waukegan, Robert O'Reilly of Long Grove, Carol Calabrese of Libertyville and Samuel Payne of Zion.

Crooks, thieves, murderers and more might frustrate Circuit Court Judge Jack Hoogasian at times. But there's something that makes him angrier.

It is not being able to be a card-carrying Republican. He was up until 1980. That's when a change in the state ethics code banned judges from becoming involved in partisan politics.

This means Hoogasian can't go to many parties for his Republican friends, no matter how dear. He can go to the annual summer steer roast and other outings where politics takes a back seat.

To all others he sends wife, Claudia. As a matter of fact, she has been to so many and worked so hard for the party some people might be tempted to asked, "Your husband is Jack who?"

Hoogasian is a visible person. He'll become even more so between now and next spring. That's when he will try to win a spot on the 2nd Dist. Appellate Court.

Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman made a hurried trip to Chicago last Saturday morning. It was to meet with Gov. Jim Thompson about becoming the next U.S. district attorney for northern Illinois. Foreman is among several candidates in the running for this prestigious job, which, incidentally, was held by Thompson at one time.

Foreman told folks attending a civic breakfast that Bob Neal, Lake County Republican chairman and confidant of the governor, would be his chauffeur.

"Now you'll be wearing still another hat," jested a bystander. "Where's your peaked cap?" Neal is a member of the Lake County Board, Forest Preserve Dist. and on the Illinois Tollway Comm., among other jobs.

Congratulations are in order for state Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Bluff) of the 30th Dist. He has been named Legislator of the Year by the Illinois Environmental Council. This honor comes from his "leadership in creating a state fund for the acquisition of land for natural areas."

Jack Hoogasian

William Peterson

Fred Foreman

Barkhausen was successful in having the Legislature set aside the 50-cents-per-$1,000 real estate transfer tax for land acquisition and conservation. After being phased in over the next five years, the fund is expected to have $12 million, with two-thirds of that used for grants to local governments for park acquisition and improvement.

Kudos also to state Rep. William "Bill" Peterson (R-Prairie View) of the 60th Dist. He was named Legislator of the Year by the Countryside Assn. for the Handicapped in Palatine. Peterson has repeatedly shown his support for the 10-year-old non-profit agency and those it serves.

Something different is being whipped up in the 1990 Republican race for sheriff.

The odds-on favorite is incumbent Clint Grinnell. The long-time Libertyville chief of police had an easy time winning enough votes to fill the shoes of the late Robert "Mickey" Babcox last year. Clint is ready to do it again.

Challenging him will be not one, but a team of two candidates—on the same slate. Heading the ticket is Don Mason of Lake Villa Twp., who lost a sheriff's bid in 1984 and was kicked off the ballot in 1986 when his petitions were challenged.

Running with him for the job of deputy sheriff (held by Willie Smith of Round Lake) is William Harder of Antioch.

This is a carry-over ploy from Babcox's 1982 victory. He promised during that campaign to surround himself with the best. For the job of chief deputy he selected Grinnell. Next in command he called in one-time Lake County sheriff and Mundelein Police Chief Chic LaM- agdeleine. Babcox, an admitted politician, wanted others to take care of the professional side of the office.

engineer to tag a few of the remaining trees. Supposedly, the tags signify these trees will not be cut. This remains to be seen, especially in view of the fact that some of the tagged trees are in the pathline of Victoria Rd., which is due to be extended.

We live in an era when dense vegetation, especially mature trees, are considered attractive and cause to increase the market value of land. Yet Mundelein continues to allow development to occur in a post World War II slash and burn method that is outdated, environmentally retarded and esthetically unappealing.

It is too late to save the numerous trees that were raped from the land earlier this month. It is not too late for the village board to address this issue and make moves to protect the remaining trees on the commercially zoned parcel of this property, and trees in other parts of the village that may fall prey to insensitive methods of assembly-line development.

School workers applauded

Editor:

As taxpayers and parents of Fremont School Dist. 79, we congratulate all the chairpersons and committees for the six referenda, and who worked so hard over the past 2 and one-half years to increase the educational fund for our district. The effort, time, energy and expertise which they volunteered so generously for this cause can now be translated into tangible improvements at Fremont, which will benefit both students and teachers alike.

Most especially, we would like to thank Jean Provenzano and her committee members, who, during the recent campaign, addressed spoken and unspoken questions that had concerned so many constituents over the duration of all six campaigns; these fact sheets were key in providing all of us with answers in print.

Jean was also responsible for a public information campaign that was unique for Fremont—broad-based and "down-home" in every detail. For 20 weeks, there was weekly media coverage about the referendum in our local papers, ranging from letters to the editor, which expressed varying opinions about the school, including rebuttals and articles highlighting teachers and parents. Radio spots and interviews, as well as features in the Chicago dailies, rounded out the media blitz.

Kudos to Jean and her workers on an incredible campaign that was, from the start, visible both internally and externally and which capitalized on the groundwork laid by her five predecessors.

School catastrophe

Editor:

The Saddlebrook Mobile Home Park in Round Lake Park on the border of Mundelein, projected at 3,600 units, will produce a financial catastrophe for Mundelein High School and Fremont Elementary School.

Mobile homes do not pay their fair share of taxes. They are taxed on the basis of the number of square feet in a unit and the age of the unit. For a unit under three years of age the tax is 15 cents a square foot. For one 15 years old or older, 7.5 cents per square foot.

Based on a Round Lake Park tax rate of 8.009, for new units, Mundelein High School will be $69 of the total tax and Fremont Elementary $76.30. If taxed as other dwelling units, MHS would get $234 and FES $256. Estimates of school population from Saddlebrook for MHS range from 196 to 555, and for FES from 558 to 1,692.

MHS and FES propose legislation that would assess and tax mobile homes as other real estate, and that payment of the tax be made the responsibility of the mobile home park. The effect of the tax would be cushioned so mobile home owners can adjust to the tax gradually by phasing it in over a period of years and applying the new tax immediately only to newly placed mobile homes. Support is needed for this legislation.

9-1-1 just another tax

Editor:

The 911 system will be supported by a monthly surcharge of 90 cents added onto our telephone bills. To me, the term "surcharge" is just a fancy word for "tax." One thing Grayslake residents do not need is another tax; especially those who are on fixed incomes like senior citizens toward whom a campaign has been launched asking their support as primary beneficiaries of 911. The information I have read says that once the initial equipment and installation costs are paid, the surcharge "could" go down. Now, granted, 90 cents a month is not a lot of money, but how many consumers really believe that a "surcharge" for service provided through a public utility is going to decrease in the future? And who's paying the tab on the 911 service from public telephones? The village? Ma Bell? How many times in the past have voters been asked to decrease a surcharge or tax? Collection of the surcharge, as I understand, will begin six months after the passage of the referendum, but the system will not be installed for 18 to 24 months. I'd like to obtain a bank loan under those terms!

Today, many homes, including my own, are equipped with multi-number, programmable telephones. At the top of the list I have programed the phone numbers to the police and fire departments. I press one button and I am in contact with the exact agency I need. This seems to be a better alternative than dialing three numbers. I was counter-argued on this point with the statement that "you really can't trust those foreign made telephones." Now logic dictates to me that if I can't trust my telephone to work properly by pushing one button, how can I trust it when pushing three?

And, of course, we all know how unreliable all this electronic "Japanese junk" is these days!

Consulting provides flexibilityModern-day

Five years ago, Jeanne F. Becker solved a problem faced by many modern-day working mothers.

As a new mother of two who had a masters degree from the Univ. of Wis. in urban planning and environmental resource planning, a bachelor of science degree from Cornell Univ. in environmental science, and five years experience working for the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, Becker had a promising career ahead of her that she did not want to give up. Her problem was that she needed more flexibility in her schedule.

Becker made the difficult decision of resigning from her position as the head of the advanced planning division of the county planning department and started her own consulting firm, Jeanne Becker and Assoc., Inc.

Jeanne F. Becker provides professional consulting services to local government officials to help manage problems that modern governments must now address. Although she has done this consulting in central Lake County for five years, her practice now includes assignments throughout Illinois and as far as New Mexico.

Jeanne F. Becker and Assoc., Inc. is "a firm specializing in urban planning and environmental planning," said Becker.

"What it focuses on is helping municipal and county policy makers and elected officials make decisions and make choices about problems that are affecting their communities. And the problems that I deal with most frequently would be solid waste problems and impacts from proposed developments—both economic (and environmental)," Becker added.

One of Becker's largest assignments in central Lake County was a study regarding development impact fees for the Village of Round Lake Beach. Other participants in the study were in the Round Lake Unit School Dist., Round Lake Area Library Dist., Round Lake Area Park Dist., the Greater Round Lake Fire Protection Dist., and the Grayslake Area Fire Protection Dist.

"We completed that study in January and that was looking at development impact fees as a way to help municipalities, together with taxing districts—like schools, park districts, libraries, and fire protection districts—to address the cost impacts associated with new development and new subdivisions that are occurring in that area," she said.

Becker said the impact fee project was a big one and very interesting because it entailed working with several different clients. She said each district had a slightly different perspective to the scope of the problem, how it affected them and what the appropriate solutions might be.

"A lot of it was consensus building on our part in order to identify the desire of the individual board members of the districts, and then to develop a plan that would address their various perspectives on the issues," Becker said.

Other projects in which Becker has been involved were a library citizens survey, a fiscal impact analysis of proposed subdivisions, an annexation proposal, and a number of other projects that involved primarily looking at proposed development.

Becker credits her employment with Lake County for providing many skills she has needed as a consultant.

"It gave me an excellent training ground for developing skills, developing writing skills, developing public speaking skills, beginning to understand issues and how they are dealt with at the county or municipal level, and how public officials and elected officials are constantly being asked to weigh the positive and negative decisions...I think it helped me to understand how difficult it is to make the wide variety of decisions that public officials have to make," Becker said.

Jeanne F. Becker and Assoc., Inc. was selected by the West Cook County Solid Waste Agency to prepare a solid waste plan for 500,000 people in 30 to 35 communities. Black and Veatch, an engineering and architectural firm, will provide sub-consulting services for certain technical areas related to incineration and landfilling. According to Becker, her company "will do all the project management, development of the implementation portion, and also all the yard waste composting, recycling, and volume reduction portion of the study."

Later work includes evaluating the systems that will be developed in the study. Plan preparation will take about 18 months to complete and will cost $180,000. Becker plans to begin working on the project Dec. 1.

A current assignment in New Mexico on which Becker and Assoc., Inc. is working involves preparation of landfill performance standards as part of a comprehensive zoning ordinance for a rural county. Becker expects to continue providing environmental and planning services to central Lake County and municipal officials as well as private sector clients for many years.

"In 10 years, I would hope to have a staff of full-time professionals—maybe three or four or five people working with me. I would hope that I'm still in planning. I may not be in solid waste anymore, however," Becker said.

Becker believes starting her own consulting business was definitely the right decision for her. She said her business has taken off and now calls for frequent travel, but running the company from an office in her home allows her to set her own hours and be home when her family needs her.

"Basically what's happened is it's a full-time job and I love it," Becker said.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Bondholders often have difficulty understanding accrued interest, which is interest earned but not yet paid to the bondholder.

A bond is purchased at a quoted price, but when the confirmation is received, an extra charge called accrued interest is added. But, why the added cost?

Most bonds pay interest twice a year. If the interest rate on your bond is 1.000 each year, you receive two payments of $500. Interest begins accruing after payment date.

It's important to understand that you never lose interest, or are penalized, when you sell a bond. Although the market value of your bond may fluctuate, you're entitled to all interest due when you sell that bond or it matures.

When you receive payment for your bond, you get not only the principal back on the bond but also the accrued interest due since the last payment. When the buyer of your bond makes payment, it includes the principal amount of the bond plus accrued interest owed to you.

Chicago Title study says:

Demand for luxury housing to increase

Home buyers will continue to spend for larger, more expensive houses in the decade ahead, reports Chicago Title and Trust Co., the nation's leading insurer of property titles.

John Pfister, vice president and manager of market research for the national title insurer, says evidence to support this prediction comes from many sources, including the latest price index for new one-family homes sold that is published by the U.S. Dept. of Commerce. It shows the current trend to larger homes with upscale amenities has been gaining momentum since 1982, when the economy embarked upon the longest period of uninterrupted expansion in modern post-war history.

According to Commerce Dept. statistics, in 1982 the "typical" newly constructed three-bedroom, two-bath house sold for $83,900. Seven years later, in 1989, the same three-bedroom house was selling for $98,100, a gain of 17 percent.

However, because of changes in the housing mix or type of units actually built and sold, the average price for a newly constructed home in fact rose to $138,300 in 1989, Pfister said.

"What this says is that new home construction costs have not inflated nearly as rapidly as the buyer's appetite for larger homes with upscale features. The average new home built and sold in 1989 cost 41 percent more than the inflated price of the home that typified new construction in 1982," he observed.

With borrowing costs trending lower through most of the decade, buyers have been able to afford more house. But this alone cannot account for a real 41 percent difference in selling price between the typical new house built in 1982 and its more expensive 1989 counterpart, Pfister said.

Tastes have changed. And as the baby boom generation has matured, older, more affluent buyers and two-income couples have become more dominant factors in the housing market.

Also, during this period, the median household income of those actually buying homes has risen dramatically as has the number of wealthy Americans at the high end of the buying scale.

Attend workshop

Sheila R. Schnurr, credit analyst, and Allan Robbins, assistant vice president at the First National Bank of Antioch, attended an advanced two-day workshop on financial statement analysis sponsored by the Illinois Bankers Assn.

Beg your pardon

Our apologies to Marie Novotney, owner of West Coast Video in Round Lake Beach, for improperly spelling her name in a 'Entrepreneur' feature on her.

"Looking ahead, the trend to upscale housing figures to accelerate as the population continues to age. In the next decade, there will be continuing demand for more expensive housing products and greater demand for second homes in warmer climates," Pfister predicts.

Considering Switching an Hourly Employee to a Salary Employee?

This week's question from The Illinois Chamber HELPLINE

Q. We are considering putting an hourly employee on salary so we won't have to pay her weekly overtime. Anything wrong with that?

A. Yes. Just because an individual is paid a salary rather than an hourly rate, they are not automatically exempt from overtime pay. To be exempt an employee must fit the definition of executive, professional or administrator and be paid a guaranteed weekly salary of a specified amount.

If employers would like more information on this and other Chamber services call, 312-372-7373.

A yachting vacation

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTHSTAR TRAVEL, INC.

Did you ever dream of sailing the Caribbean in your own yacht? I'm not talking about the well-known "Windjammer Cruises." No, I mean your own private sailing yacht where you set the course!

You don't have to win the lottery to make that dream come true. If you have a couple of friends with the same dream, you can charter your own fully crewed yacht for less than the price of an average seven-day Caribbean cruise. And that includes meals, drinks (hard and soft), fuel, ice, the works.

For experienced sailors, there are many "sail yourself" yachts available. However, for the average sailor (such as myself, who can't keep his Butterfly sailboat upright), I'd suggest a crewed yacht. You get an experienced captain and a first mate who doubles as your cook. You'll have plenty of opportunity to take the helm with some expert instructions. Your crew does the housekeeping, provisions the boat and acts as your guide on shore excursions. You'll find most crews are actually husband and wife teams.

The majority of charters originate in the U.S. Virgin Islands. The calm waters and steady tradewinds make for unsurpassed sailing. Where you go from there is only limited by the length of your dream vacation. Seven to ten days is recommended, but you set the schedule.

Want to do a little diving? Century-old shipwrecks and colorful coral reefs await you. Snorkeling more your style? Anchor off a deserted white-sand beach and snorkel in for a shore lunch.

If sails, sun and sand are your thing, consider a yacht vacation.

Selecting the right life insurance agent

by DONALD CRAMPTON
Lakeland Newspapers

We've written in previous columns about some of the benchmarks which the potential insurance buyer might profitably use in the selection of life insurance products and of life insurance carriers. In this column we will discuss the filter through which so much of the information on both passes, the life insurance insurance agent or broker.

Whether you are the head self if this is a person with whom you want to forge such a relationship. Are you personally compatible? Are you comfortable with each other? Do you respect and, simply, like each other? If you can build this kind of relationship, it is a bonus that offers considerable potential for both of you.

Does your prospective agent understand the dynamically changing landscape of the life insurance industry? Product changes prised how helpful and satisfying the relationship will be.

Editor's note: Donald N. Crampton, DLU, ChFC, is president of Crampton, Lewis & Co., Inc., Chicago, an insurance brokerage and consulting firm focusing on the needs of small businesses, their owners and executives. He is a member of a panel of financial experts preparing This Way to Wealth. Your questions are invited to

of a household concerned about protecting your family, a business owner sensitive to risk management and compensation issues within your firm, or one approaching retirement coming to grips with income and estate planning issues, the selection of an insurance agent or broker is almost sure to directly affect your actions.

Your choice may be as important to you, in the final analysis, as your selection of an attorney, an investment advisor or an accountant. Here are some filters of your own that may be useful in choosing the right insurance advisor for you.

First, you must be satisfied that the agent or broker is thoroughly honest. You need to feel that the information given you by the agent is thoughtfully compiled, complete and driven by your interests, not his or hers. References should be helpful here. If you don't feel this way at any point in your investigations, get someone else.

Your insurance agent should be objective. His or her duty, among other things, is to weigh your personal or business situation, your premium paying capability, and carrier and product selection in the context of your goals and aspirations. If you've been forthcoming in describing your situation and you feel the agent's recommendations are without merit, try someone else.

You have a duty here, too. You have to be forthcoming and direct in making sure that the agent knows you and what it is you are trying to achieve through the purchase of the products and services he or she has to offer. Don't blame the agent for what may seem to be silly recommendations if you've not told him what he needs to know to make sound ones.

At its best, the relationship between you and your insurance agent should be one of long duration—characterized by true client/professional interaction.

After satisfying yourself that the agent is both honest and objective, ask yourself if this is a person with whom you want to forge such a relationship. Are you personally compatible? Are you comfortable with each other? Do you respect and, simply, like each other? If you can build this kind of relationship, it is a bonus that offers considerable potential for both of you.

Does your prospective agent understand the dynamically changing landscape of the life insurance industry? Product changes occur rapidly and often, as do changes in significant tax laws and the financial conditions of insurance companies. You need to work with someone who recognizes the need to remain current in these and other relevant matters.

One criterion, by no means the only or the best, but one which you can easily ascertain, is the educational record of the agent. Is he or she a chartered life underwriter, a certified financial planner, an attorney or an accountant or studying to achieve one or more of these designations? If not, ask enough questions to satisfy yourself that he or she is capable of steering you through these treacherous waters. If so, ask them anyway.

Lastly, satisfy yourself that the prospective agent's administrative capabilities are "up to snuff." Your life insurance program needs will likely change over the years. Assure yourself that simple changes in your address or ownership and/or beneficiary designations will be accomplished quickly and efficiently. Nothing is more irritating to have gone to all the trouble to think through and implement an insurance program and have it fail to achieve its objectives through the agent's failure to pay attention to detail.

Remember, you are the client. Insist that you be treated as one, with honesty, objectivity, fairness, respect and thoughtfulness. Give your insurance agent the same consideration and you'll be pleasantly sur-

Eagle, Seth Paine donate 40 turkeys

What started out as a small philanthropic project turned into a boom for needy families in Ela Twp. as the Eagle grocery store customers donated 40 turkey stamps for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The program, coordinated through the Seth Paine Parent-Teacher Organization, let Eagle customers donate their extra or unwanted turkey stamps to the organization. In addition, Eagle manager Carl Waggoner placed a box for extra stamps at the entrance to the store. When the box was opened Monday and combined with the stamps collected by the PTO, Waggoner and chairperson Susan Lindner found enough stamps to equal 40 turkeys.

"I kind of take a personal interest in the community," Waggoner said. "I think it says a lot for the people that they were willing to help."

Eagle will donate all the trimmings necessary for the Thanksgiving dinner to match the 40 turkeys donated by customers. The dinners will then be donated through the Ela Twp. offices.

"It's really gratifying to see the attitude of the community," Twp. Supervisor Bob Grever said.

Minimum security jail needed: Sheriff Grinnell

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County Sheriff Clint Grinnell called for a minimum security prison to be built in Lake County to assist the overcrowding at the Lake County Jail.

"Citing a minimum security facility could be as popular as citing a garbage dump," Grinnell told a group of 60 members and guests gathered at the "One Nation Under God" breakfast sponsored by the Grayslake Exchange Club. The annual breakfast was held at Renwood Country Club in Round Lake Beach Saturday.

Grinnell said that when he last checked, some 343 of the 350 beds at the jail at Robert Babcock Justice Center were being used. He said beds originally designed for work release participants have been assigned to other criminals.

"It is a state-of-the-art correctional facility," Grinnell said.

Grinnell explained that two floors will be added to the four-story jail.

Speaking the morning after a major snowstorm created many traffic accidents in Lake County, Grinnell addressed how the county is tackling the drug issue.

He said six people have been assigned to a special investigative unit and four work with the Metropolitan Enforcement Group.

"Until the people want to start fighting against drugs, we will have a problem," The first-term sheriff said.

Grinnell, a former Libertyville policeman, thanked those in attendance for passing the county-wide 9-1-1 referendum Nov. 7. He was substituting for Lake County State's Atty. Fred Foreman, who had a Saturday meeting with Gov. James Thompson to discuss the open federal state's attorney post.

Avon Twp. sponsors food drive on Dec. 13

Avon Twp. in conjunction with the village and residents of Grayslake and Waste Management of Lake County has organized a food collection program that will bring some Christmas joy to the less fortunate of western Lake County.

On Wednesday, Dec. 13, each Grayslake homeowner is being asked to in addition to their normal recyclable material, they put at least one can of non-perishable food in their green recycling bin. These food donations will be picked up by a representative of Avon Twp. who will be traveling with Waste Management.

Food collected by the township will be turned over to the Lakes Area

Food Pantry to be distributed to western Lake County area residents only. Eligibility for receiving food from the pantry is predicated on a referral from some social or governmental agency.

Waste Management is asking that the donated food be put in a paper bag for easy identification from other recyclable items.

Honor volunteers

Metra to extend discount

Metra will get into the holiday spirit by extending its discounted "Family Fare" plan to include the day after Thanksgiving and two full weeks during the Christmas season.

To accommodate families traveling downtown for holiday outings, shopping or the annual Christmas parade, Metra's "Family Fares" will be in effect Friday, Nov. 24 and every day from Saturday, Dec. 16 through Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1990.

Under the "Family Fare" program, up to three children ride free when accompanied by a fare-paying adult, and all youths age 12 through 17 ride for half price. "Family Fares," regularly offered by the Metra commuter rail system on weekends on holidays, are available on all lines except the South Shore.

Trains will run on a normal weekday schedule Friday, Nov. 24, with extra coaches added during the mid-morning and afternoon to handle traditionally large crowds of shoppers. Ticket agents will be on duty at several major Metra stations on that morning.

For information, call Metra Passenger Services, (708)322-6777.

Youth Services assist WTHS cope with death

Flags were flying at half-staff at Warren Twp. High School following the death of a student in a traffic accident.

Students, faculty and staff were all assisted in coping.

"We knew there would be a student reaction so we put together a program with our own staff and help from Warren Twp. Youth Services," Principal Pat McMahon said.

Gurnee resident David Smith was pronounced dead at the scene following an accident which occurred at 12:40 a.m. Saturday.

Smith was a football, basketball and baseball player at Warren.

According to Illinois State Police, Joshua Block, 16, of Gurnee, drove off the roadway and his jeep hit an abandoned truck off I-94 near Half Day Rd. Both Block and Smith were flung from the vehicle.

McMahon said Felicia Novak of Warren Twp. Youth Services and her staff met Monday with students. Also, Gurnee psychologist Phil Kirschbaum met with faculty members.

"He discussed what reactions the students might have in classrooms," McMahon said.

The last time a Warren student was killed was Dec., 1984 when Michael Deegan was shot at a McDonald's restaurant in Waukegan. In the late 1970s, two football players were killed.

"There has never been anything as tragic and sudden as this," McMahon said.

Hutcherson waits for big brother from Santa

Hutcherson, seven, has been waiting for his very own Big Brother for a year. He likes riding bikes, playing in water puddles, and sports. He's an excellent student and loves to keep active. He's hoping Santa Claus brings him a big brother this holiday season.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County, a United Way Agency, provides services to single-parent children, ages five to 14, in Lake County. Through the warmth of a one-to-one friendship with an adult volunteer, the children can learn problem solving skills, build their self-esteem, and participate in fun activities that friends share. Volunteers make a commitment of three to five hours a week for at least one year to the program.

Call Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County at (708)360-0770, to find out how you can end the wait for Hutcherson and other children from single-parent families in your community this holiday season.

Centre Club links medical care to future

Ten years ago, Condell Memorial Hospital in Libertyville foresaw the linkage of fitness facilities and medical resources as an important bridge to the future of health care.

Plans were made to develop "the most comprehensive fitness facility in the nation," and production began of a 70,000-square-foot complex called Centre Club. As a goal, the club set out to integrate state-of-the-art fitness facilities, a health institute staffed by Condell physicians, and Centre Lights Restaurant.

Now, less than a year after Centre Club first opened, marketing foresight has paid off as current membership pushes past 4,000 and well beyond expectations.

A marketing success amidst many fitness facilities vying for attention, Centre Club is focused on promoting overall wellness for the entire community. "In a rapidly changing health industry, marketing our uniquely comprehensive range of services has become a must," said Eugene Pritchard, president of Condell Hospital.

As a component to this marketing plan, Bender, Browning, Dolby & Sanderson Advertising, Chicago, developed an award-winning advertising campaign for the promotion of the new Centre Club.

"Our objective has been to answer the question 'What do they offer that I can't get from any other fitness complex?' " says John Dolby, director of design and graphic services at Bender, Browning, Dolby & Sanderson.

As a result, the Centre Club fitness complex has indeed become a living, thriving prototype of a new approach to overall wellness. While current membership continues to build, the nation's most comprehensive fitness facility continues to build marketing strength in support of innovative programs in fitness, medical resources and a healthier community through both.

Bridge to the future

An integral part of the Medical Center of Lake County, the Centre Club demonstrates the need for the linkage of fitness facilities with medical resources as the "Bridge to the Future." The innovative new complex is using marketing strength to build a well-developed future, as current membership pushes past 4,000—and well beyond expectations.

Victory closing Immediate Care Ctr.

The board of Victory Health Services has announced the closing of Victory Immediate Care Ctr., 3477 Grand Ave., Gurnee, effective Jan. 1, 1990. The closing is due to a prudent business decision on the part of the Victory Health Services Board of Directors to meet the changing medical care needs of the northern Lake County community.

"Medical care has changed dramatically over the past five years, since the Immediate Care Center opened. Many area doctors now have longer office hours and physician referral services offer information to help match residents with area doctors," said Victory Pres. Timothy Harrington.

"We believe that medical services currently available, like Victory's Physician Referral Service, will provide excellent assistance for those who need to select a physician for non-emergency medical care. And, Victory's emergency department will remain open 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide emergency care, and will continue to be staffed by physicians board certified in emergency medicine," Harrington continued.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: How do you identify a diabetic's vision problems?

ANSWER: Diabetics have vision problems because the disease weakens small blood vessels in various parts of the body including those that nourish the retina in the back of the eye. In fact, about 60 percent of people having diabetes for 15 years or more probably have some sort of blood vessel damage in their eyes, though not always severe enough to require any treatment. All diabetics should have regular eye examinations.

First, the ophthalmologist will painlessly examine the eye with an ophthalmoscope and may photograph the eye's interior. To determine the extent of any blood vessel damage noted, a fluorescent dye may be injected into the patient's arm and then photographed at high speed as it passes through the vessels in the eye. This helps determine what treatment, if any is needed.

The Steel Magnolias

Film Review

'Magnolias' smasherino

Every so often an outstanding good clean film comes around that one doesn't hesitate to tell all their friends to go and see.

Such a film is "Steel Magnolias," based on the successful Broadway play by Robert Harling, a first time author who also did the screen play.

The film opened across the country last week to critical and popular acclaim.

And why not? The cast is headed by three Academy Award winners, Sally Field, Olympia Dukakis and Shirley MacLaine.

They are joined by the most personable Dolly Parton, Daryl Hannah, Julia Roberts, Sam Shepard and Tom Skerritt.

Field turns in another award performance as the mother of an ill-fated daughter, Roberts. The other women play friends that stand behind the family during tragedy.

Parton plays Parton, perfectly cast for the part of the beautician with the husband with problems, played by Shepard.

Dukakis and MacLaine are fantastic as two old friends that lovingly fight their way through the movie.

MacLaine's Oulser, the town crab and eccentric is a riot; Dukakis, as the former mayor's svelt wife, has some of the sharpest lines in the script.

The usually glamorous Hannah turns in a surprisingly believable performance as the gawky pregnant stranger who soon joins the closeknit group of friends in the small southern town. Skerritt, a fine actor in his own right, has little to say but stands around exuding strength as Field's husband.

The base of the plot is Robert's struggle with a serious case of diabetes while choosing to become a mother and the strength given her and her family by her female friends, perfectly described as "Steel Magnolias."

It's a refreshing film that starts with the small town wedding of Roberts and proceeds with a lot of small town life complete with the seldom seen scene with children dressed in their best on an Easter egg hunt.

This is definitely a five starrer. Go see it and run the gauntlet of strong emotions from laughter to tears and back again.

Local thespian in 'Sound of Music'

Michael Hughes, Gurnee and Donna Sandri, center, play Baron Von Trapp and Maria in the Richard Rodgers' musical. The show that reeks of the holiday spirit is playing through Dec. 17.

Professor loves show business

by GLORIA DAVIS
Entertainment Editor

One of the few people in the country who has been able to earn a respectable living in show business is local Lake County Michael Hughes, 44, who makes his home in Gurnee with his wife Connie who is a teacher in North Chicago, and his six-year-old son Matt.

Hughes' present professional entertainment endeavor is taking place at the Drury Lane Dinner Theatre in Evergreen Park, south of Chicago where he is playing Baron Von Trapp in that theatre's production of Richard Rodgers' "Sound of Music."

Son of former Lake County Judge John Hughes, Michael was reared as "a navy brat," moving all over the country during his father's first career in the armed forces.

In 1952, the Hughes family settled in Lake County. Michael received his bachelor's degree in fine arts from Ill. Wesleyan and started teaching school in the late 1960s, gaining a full professorship by 1970.

It was then that he decided to try his hand at being a professional thespian.

He has since appeared at most of the theatres in the Chicagoland area with a portfolio that includes dramatic roles at Goodman Theatre, Chicago; musical parts in "Brigadoon," "Man of LaManchia" and "Camelot" at Marriott Lincolnshire.

His all time favorite role was that of Thomas Moore in Rockford's New Amsterdam Theatre's production of "Man For All Seasons."

For the last five years, he turned to tv commercials and was one of the luckier ones to snag, not only local ones, but some national advertisements such as commercials for Nordic Trak, Monsanto and Ford Trucks.

But he missed the smell of the greasepaint and when the coveted role of Von Trapp came along he found himself taking a hiatus from the tv cameras and returning to the footlights' glare.

This kind of theatrical activity allows him to live a normal family life and even gives him time to be community minded like being on the Gurnee Civil Service Commission and the steering committee for the recently defeated Gurnee Grade School Dist.'s school referendum.

He has also been active in Equity, having served as one of its national officers.

The 821-seat Drury Lane Dinner Theatre is the third largest dinner playhouse in the country with a 30-year-old landmark marquee that has just been restored.

The musical is set to run through Dec. 17 with performances on Wednesdays and Thursdays at 8 p.m., on Fridays at 8:30 p.m., on Saturdays at 6:15 and 9:30 p.m. and on Sundays at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. For more ticket information call (708)422-0404.

ZBA eyes Heartland

Grayslake Zoning Board of Appeals members will be considering the North Mills and Central Range areas of Heartland when it meets Dec. 5.

The zoning is already set in the agreement reached in 1987, according to Grayslake Village Manager Mike Ellis.

Ellis said the hearing is necessary to create the zoning classifications now in Lake County into the village.

Zoning types include neighborhood conservation urban residential; neighborhood conservation, general industrial; neighborhood conservation, suburban estate and neighborhood conservation, light industrial.

"They already have those zones in the county," Ellis said.

One portion is owned by Lake Partners Inc. and another, the area off of Atkinson Rd. and Center St., by Cambridge Homes.

Talk Increases

Paul Ashley of U.S. Cable will attend a meeting of the Fox Lake Village Council Monday, Nov. 27, about proposed increases in rates effective Jan. 1. Village officials questioned why the increase is needed.

Completes Basic

Army Reserve Private Edmund A. Krapf Jr. has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J. He is the son of Melody S. and Edmund A. Krapf Sr. of Ingleside. The private is a 1989 graduate of Grant High School, Fox Lake.

A Chicago resident faces charges after an incident in which a Grayslake Police Dept. squad car was totaled early Nov. 20.

Patrick O'Brien of Chicago was cited by Illinois State Police with driving under the influence of alcohol, improper lane usage and illegal transportation of open alcohol following the 3:50 a.m. incident.

Grayslake Police Chief Ed Wunderle said Officer Dennis J. O'Connor was stopped at Rte. 83 and Lake St. when hit in the back driver's side by O'Brien's 1988 Chevy Astro van. The squad car, a 1987 Chevy Caprice, was totaled, Wunderle said.

O'Connor was transported to Condell Memorial Hospital in Libertyville where he was treated and released.

In the second incident, a squad car driven by Randy Hegland was struck in a rear-end accident Nov. 17. Some $1,500 of damage was done to the 1988 Chevrolet Caprice, which was later repaired and is now back on the road.

Hegland was stopped waiting for another car to turn left from Rte. 137 to Harris Rd. when Hegland's car was allegedly hit by Michael K. Kellman of Diamond Lake, who was driving a 1985 Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

According to Illinois State Police reports, the Kellman vehicle was hit by George

S. Neff's 1978 Mercury DeYoung to Condell Memorial Hospital for a blood test.

Neff, a Round Lake resident, was charged with failure to avoid an accident at the incident at Rte. 137 and Harris Rd.

Hegland was transporting Grayslake resident Andre Friday storm.

Announce plans for new Shakespearean center

A regional center devoted to the study of the Elizabethan and Jacobean periods is to be founded in Lake County on the campus of the College of Lake County in Grayslake.

The center, a project of the CLC Foundation, is named for F.J. Harnish, a respected CLC theatre and speech instructor who was named the college's Illinois Citizen of the Year in 1988.

The F.J. Harnish Shakespeare Centre will house books, videotapes and recordings, and host a variety of programs relating to the arts and sciences of both periods. Plans include the eventual addition of lecture and performance space.

"The Shakespeare Centre's goal is to serve the educational needs of scholars, as well as to promote historical awareness and provide entertainment for the community at large," said Charles Schulze, CLC vice president of development.

Frank J. Harnish (1921-1988) was a noted Shakespearean scholar. Hundreds of thousands met him each summer at King Richard's Faire in Bristol, Wisc., where he played the bard.

Before joining CLC in 1969, the year the college was founded, he was a member of the theatre faculties at Northern Illinois Univ. and Eastern New Mexico Univ. He was also a two-term president of the Illinois Theatre Assn.

Many students tutored by Harnish in the intricacies of performing the classics have gone on to professional performing careers.

Several fundraising events for the center are planned, including an Elizabethan feast on Dec. 8 and 9 and Shakespearean May Day celebrations.

The CLC Foundation is actively seeking tax deductible contributions that can be sent to: The F.J. Harnish Shakespeare Centre, c/o CLC Foundation, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

For more information, call the CLC Development Office at (708)223-6601, ext. 400.

Kirk Players tell season

"Make 'em Laugh," is the focus of the Kirk Players' 24th theatrical season. The Mundelein-based Community Stock Company announced that their 1989-90 subscription series stage productions will be "Noises Off," "Lunch Hour," and "The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940."

"Noises Off," by Michael Frayn, opens the new season on Dec. 1 and 2. This unruly comedy concerns a company of actors who are producing an English sex farce.

The warm and witty comedy "Lunch Hour" will be presented Feb. 23-24, 1990. It involves an all-too-human psychiatrist and his all-too-ideal patient whose husband is having an affair with the psychiatrist's wife.

The Kirk Players feel they have concocted a true comedy coup with their final production on May 11-12, 1990. "The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940," by John Bishop, is a spoofy whodunit, complete with mysterious characters and secret passages. It is a sidesplitting piece of silliness that bursts with big, big laughs and many surprises. This show will benefit the Lake County Arts Council.

In an ongoing effort to provide good community theater at low prices, the Players will again provide subscription season tickets at substantial savings over adult tickets purchased individually. The encourage families to enjoy live theater together by offering a family pass, which admits two adults and all single children living at home to each of the three shows for only $24. A regular season pass, which admits two adults to all three productions, costs $18.

The student ticket price is $3, and senior citizens and children under 12 pay only $2. All three Kirk Player productions will be presented at the Mundelein High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

Season tickets are now available from any Kirk Player or by calling director John Lynn at (708)566-6594.

Critic's Choice

'Good Times' winner

by TOM WITOM
Lakeland Newspapers

"The Good Times Are Killing Me," adapted from a book by Lynda Barry, is a personalized remembrance of the good/bad times of growing up in the mid-'60s.

The play, directed by Arnold Aprill at Chicago's Body Politic Theatre, captures a lot of the humor and much of the pain of an America in transition.

Through the eyes of children come lessons they've learned from their parents on such weighty topics as religion, divorce and race relations. For the Arkins family, living in a changing neighborhood of a big city, nothing is black and white.

Young Edna, played with wide-eyed innocence by Lorell Wyatt, recalls her first experience at a black storefront church, where the people seemed to be free, happy and "normal." She becomes best friends with Bonna Willis (Glenda Kelley), from whom she learns the music of life isn't always a joyous tune.

The two—from different racial backgrounds—share similar experiences such as camping and Girl Scouts, but they find (in a tearful scene) the bond they have developed is really a fragile one.

"The Good Times" adeptly uses music from the '50s and '60s as a nice backdrop: sometimes it warms the soul and, once in a while, it tears at the heart.

Barry's words are often lyrical, such as when she has Edna thinking back, remembering how a dedicated singing teacher at school and how she would "tilt her head back like she was holding you up with her eyes."

And who could ever forget the sofa, preserved in its glory with a plastic slip cover, or Aunt Margaret trying to quiet a worried little girl whose mom had a miscarriage, saying "Don't cry or it will just make it worse for your mother."

Wyatt has the talent to create child-like wonder as she and her young sister traipse about their basement, which they've converted into "Record Player Nightclub," and see the world from behind a red plastic 45-rpm record.

Later, when she said all she longs for is the kind of praise accorded the star of "The Sound of Music," namely "someone so perfect even the nuns couldn't understand her," one can only nod in sympathetic understanding. "The Good Times" is a winner.

Ever Feel Out of Place?

You know it right when you walk in the door. You get that sinking feeling that says "I'm in the wrong place." You know you just don't fit in. You feel uncomfortable, constrained, even trapped. It can happen at work and in social settings. It can even happen in church.

There it really hurts because in church you should be accepted and loved.

At our church, you won't find a bunch of look-alikes. We're as diverse as life itself. In other words, we come in all colors, shapes, sizes and personalities! There's no chance you'll ever feel out of place.

Miller asks for leaf burning ban

by MARY KAY FISHER
Lakeland Newspapers

Grayslake residents expressed concern Monday night over the toxic effects of widespread leaf burning in the village.

Neighbors complain about "how bad it is when, on a beautiful Saturday in October, you can't let your children play outside," according to Diane Miller, 166 Augusta, Grayslake.

Miller requested that the village board "come up with some alternative to leaf burning." She presented a list of signatures and information outlining the health hazards associated with leaf burning. These include release of carcinogenic materials into the atmosphere; carbon monoxide emissions which can reduce the oxygen supply in the bloodstream and contribute to angina; negative effects on asthma and respiratory allergies; and pollution of the lake as airborne debris drops into the water.

Miller also accused some shoreline residents near Gray's Lake of burning leaves at the shoreline, thereby discharging pollutants directly into the water.

With the Lake County Health Dept. considering an ordinance in the spring, it appears that an eventual leaf burning ban is inevitable. Dick Whittington, director of environment and recycling for Grayslake, cited the Illinois law effective 7-1-90 prohibiting disposal of yard waste in area landfills is a challenge to have "some kind of compost program" in place by early spring.

"We really do not know how to handle it yet," admitted Whittington.

A village-run operation would "create another ARF, and we don't think that is a viable option for Grayslake," Whittington said.

Whittington speculated that the work may be contracted out to an established waste handling firm. When the program is in place, a no-burning ordinance will probably be recommended. Asked if the ordinance would be in place before spring leaf burning season, Whittington replied: "I hope so, I cannot promise it at this point."

Mayor Marvin Smith presented the Grayslake Historical Society with a copy of the new village code book, adopted last month. The code is a compilation of all the ordinances passed by the village board. The mayor acknowledged former Mayor Ed Schroeder in the monumental achievement, which was four years in the making. The new code book is compiled in a three-ring binder format. Changes can be inserted as they are made, keeping the code book active.

The McNeill property is now officially incorporated into Grayslake with the execution of an annexation agreement by the board. Mayor Smith welcomed the David Russell, Roy J. and Lynette D. McNeill, telling the newcomers, saying, "you are now residents of Grayslake. We're glad to have you with us."

Give Yourself a Raise with Home Federal's New JUMP UP CD

Now
8.25%
Even higher if rates go up

Buying a CD often means guessing whether rates are going up or down. Few investors want to tie up funds if rates will be going up in a month or so.

Home Federal has a solution and it's called the Jump Up CD. If rates rise, you can tell us to jump your rate - up to one full percent!

Open a Jump Up CD and receive our already high rate on a 14-month CD. Plus, you'll receive a coupon redeemable for an even higher rate - up to one full point - anytime our rates rise to that point during the life of the CD. For example, if our rates increase 1/2%, you may redeem your coupon for an extra 1/2% or you may wait until the rates rise even higher before redeeming. Whenever you act, you'll receive the higher rate until maturity.

It's our way of ensuring that no matter which direction interest rates move, you'll always earn a high, high rate.

Jump Up CDs may be opened with as little as $2500. Visit any Home Federal office for details or call 244-0880 for further information.

PRICHARD

Like an English manor, the Prichard puts a good night's sleep above a good time had by all.

Atop this two-story home, a fireplace-equipped master suite and other bedrooms stand ready to revitalize a spent family with a good night's sleep.

Below this private area, the main floor yields to both formal entertaining and less-formal pursuits, like lounging over coffee and a Sunday morning paper.

Built for a family, this three-car garage, low-slung looker combines luxury with livability - all on a city lot.

From the bank of picture windows in the front to the spacious entryway, the Prichard's open layout spells elbow room.

Visitors step down into a sunlit-dappled living room graced with vaulted ceilings. After cocktails, amble next door to the dining room, which opens onto the deck.

For the chef using this gourmet kitchen, pleasing the fussiest palate comes easy. Be it a hot dog or a Caesar salad, culinary delights spring to life in this magic corner of the house. The kitchen combines a country view with big-city sophistication. An island boasting a second "vegetable sink" means extra hands can join in the cooking.

Also, a full pantry provides food for rainy days.

For more private moments, the nook acts as that perfect in-house hideaway where a beat parent can savor mid-morning tea and relish a chapter of that who-done-it mystery.

If the nook means solitude, the family room - complete with wet-bar - means marathon Monopoly games or singing Christmas carols around the tree and fireplace.

But upstairs, it's sweet dreams amid cozy comforters and thoughtful design. The master suite features a sitting room for those pensive moods and a walk-in closet for those fashion moods. Throw in a double-sink vanity and a huge shower, and the Prichard's billpayers have what they deserve: luxury.

Another two-sink vanity in the Prichard's third full bathroom separates the other two bedrooms. And there's enough storage space for any king's ransom.

For a study plan of the PRICHARD (209-32), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Gatekeepers alerted to problems of elderly

Janet Otwell of the Illinois Dept. on Aging has announced that the Gatekeeper Program, which trains customer-contact employees to be on the lookout for older people who need help, has expanded statewide and now involves the major gas and electric utilities in the state.

"Although the program operates in most of the 50 states, Illinois is one of the few states to offer the program in each and every county," said Otwell. "Over 65,000 employees working for these utilities have now been trained as Gatekeepers, acting as eyes and ears to local agencies serving older people."

Those utilities participating in the effort include the Central Illinois Public Service Co., Illinois Power, Union Electric, Northern Illinois Gas, Commonwealth Edison and several Illinois Electric Cooperatives. Peoples' Gas is expected to become involved this fall.

At a meeting held at Northern Illinois Gas in Naperville today, the Gatekeeper coordinators from both the cooperating utilities and the Area Agencies on Aging in Illinois were praised for their involvement in a public/private partnership that has increased awareness of services available to the state's 1.9 million older people.

"In the two years since the program was introduced in Illinois, utility workers have made over 800 referrals. This means that they have identified 800 older persons who have appeared to be in trouble, and they have proceeded to call an agency that could determine ways to help," Otwell said.

"The utility worker may have noticed that the lawn was overgrown or that the mail had piled up," Otwell continued, "or that an older person seemed very confused or disoriented. In any case, the worker took the time to report the situation, and those who work in the Aging Network were able to identify vulnerable individuals who might otherwise not have received help."

Gatekeeper referrals have resulted in older individuals being connected with local service agencies that provide assistance with finances, household chores, meal preparation, personal care, home-delivered meals and transportation.

Information about the program can be obtained by calling the Illinois Dept. of Aging toll-free at 1-800-252-8966.

Exercise may cure some back pain

"Comfortable living is breaking our backs," says Dr. Jeffrey Bergin, a chiropractor at North Point Medical/Dental Clinic in Zion. "Soft furniture and poor posture are the cause of back disorders for about 100 million people, half of the U.S. population. For many people, two minutes a day of simple exercises can eliminate many nagging back problems."

"Modern furniture is too soft, low-backed, and encourages poor posture habits. Poor posture aggravates back problems," Bergin said. "Automobile seats are made so that a driver must slump over the wheel in order to see what's going on. What we really need is firm, contoured furniture in our homes, and our cars should have bucket seats properly positioned to allow good vision. Support pads are a good idea, too."

Bergin says that all people experience a natural susceptibility to pain as the spine ages. "The spine is made up of 24 bony blocks—vertebrae—separated by cushions of tough cartilage. As the spine ages, these discs harden and lose their elasticity. It's like a slow leak in an automobile tire. As the discs deflate, the spine shortens and becomes less flexible," Bergin explained.

Bergin said that although this aging process is not something that can be avoided, some simple exercises that only take two minutes a day can help keep the spine flexible longer.

For people under 30, Bergin recommends three exercises to cure many back pains and prevent back trouble in old age. The first is the pelvis rotation of tail tuck. One should lie flat on the back on a hard surface with the knees and hips bent, arms crossed on the chest. The big muscles in the back hips should be tightened so that the "tail" is tucked under. This rolling motion should be continued, flattening the back and lifting the hips without pushing the stomach up.

The stomach flattener is begun in the same starting position as the tail tuck. The shoulders and chest are lifted by tightening the stomach muscles, doing a partial sit-up. The head should follow the shoulders.

For the upper back routine, one should lie face down on the floor with a pillow under the pelvis and stomach, the knees relaxed. The hands should be placed with the palms outward and the thumbs interlocked as high up on the back as possible. The elbows should be lifted as the shoulders squeeze together. The shoulders and chest are then raised from the floor.

"The tail tuck may be practiced in many everyday situations, such as at your desk or even while driving," Bergin said. "Each time you stop at a traffic light, just straighten your arms, press your back into the seat and tuck up your tail."

According to Bergin, people over 30 should concentrate on stretching exercises to compensate for the normal shrinking of their discs. One he suggests is the low back stretch. While lying on the floor on one's back, the thighs should be brought up to the chest. The right knee should be stretched toward the right armpit, then alternated so that the left knee is stretching toward the left armpit. Pulling with alternate hands adds to stretch and rotation of the lower back.

A second exercise Bergin recommends is the straight leg raise. One lies on the back on the floor, keeping the knees straight while alternately raising the legs. Tightness may be stretched out by trying to raise them higher each time.

"There's another excellent stretching exercise you can do just about anywhere, even in an elevator," Bergin says. "Stand cross-legged, relax your body, leaning from the waist. Try touching your right foot with your right hand, and vice versa, while you gently bounce. This stretches away pain and strengthens muscles."

Investigation is key when choosing a nursing home

As the number of older Americans increases, more and more families are faced with deciding whether or not to place parents or other relatives in nursing homes. The decision can be more difficult when it must be made during a time of crisis, for example, when the patient is ready to leave the hospital after a serious illness or surgery.

Another problem is knowing when nursing home care is the best choice. Generally, when an older person needs help with dressing, shopping, meal preparation and personal chores, and these needs cannot be filled by family or community services, a long-term care facility may be necessary. When an older person needs medical attention, the family cannot afford to provide at home, or when keeping that person at home would severely upset family life, a nursing home may offer the best alternative.

Once the decision to place an older relative into a nursing home is made, the next question usually is, "Which one?" There are a number of steps that should be taken when selecting a nursing home.

1. Find out what kind of care is needed. To do this, several people should be involved—the individual patient, the physician, family members, a social worker and a member of the clergy.

2. Based on an assessment of the patient's needs, determine which type of nursing home is most appropriate—sheltered care, intermediate care, skilled care, etc.

3. Using the Yellow Pages of the telephone book, make a list of nursing homes in the area that fit the patient's preferences and needs. For information about the facilities on the list and advice on how to proceed, consult local health department, senior citizen's groups, Social Security, county public aid office, family doctor, clergy, relatives and friends. No one person or group can supply complete information about all the homes on the list.

4. Visit each of the homes on the list, and visit more than once. Visit them during late morning or at midday to observe the noon meal being served. Visit during the afternoon to see what activities are offered to residents. Visit during the evening meal.

The first time visiting a home, make an appointment to see the administrator while there. After a guided tour, talk to residents and observe conditions, without facility staff. If the administrator refused to allow this, remove this facility from the list.

5. Most nursing homes display their licenses and certificates. If they are not on display, ask to see them and examine them. Be sure both the home and the administrator have current licenses and certificates. If both the home and the administrator are not licensed, take this facility off your list.

6. Make certain the nursing home has arrangements with a nearby hospital to accept residents who may need hospitalization.

7. Ask about the availability of doctors for emergencies and about other medical services such as dental and eye care.

8. Ask for a copy of the home's most recent fire safety inspection report and examine it for compliance.

9. Be certain the home provides rehabilitation services for residents who need it, as well as social services, activities and religious services.

10. Inspect the kitchen. It should be neat and sanitary.

Suggestions to follow are contained in a booklet, "How to Select a Nursing Home", which is available from the state health department. For a copy, write to Illinois Dept. of Public Health.

Drivers angry

GRAYSLAKE---A group of Grayslake Community High School bus drivers stated their case against subcontracting to the GCHS Board of Education. "A lot of the drivers have been driving the students since they were in grade school," driver Karen Clark said. Clark said some of the drivers have been with the district for a long time, some as many as 20 years. Clark told the board subcontracting their services would push prices up. The school will end up training more drivers and that would add to the cost," she said.

Employees to strike

WAUKEGAN---Editorial employees who are members of the American Newspaper Guild have voted approval of a strike against the California owners of the Waukegan News-Sun. Guild officers said the publishing company has ceased to bargain in good faith. Guild officers now have the authority to call a strike.

Eye rec center

ANTIOCH --- Because of the existence of so many parks already, the Antioch Village Board is discussing the possibility of receiving cash instead of land donations from some future developers. Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton has suggested that the money be used to build a sports/rec center. Two possibilities suggested as sites for the center are on the east side of Main St., where the village would have to purchase the land, and on 7.7 acres on Anita St. already owned by the village. The center could include an indoor swimming pool, an ice rink and fitness rooms.

Opposes expansion

THIRD LAKE---The Village of Third Lake is objecting to Gurnee's westward expansion. Mayor Karen McCluskey has sent a letter to Gurnee outlining the concerns. The letter was drafted after the Third Lake board approved it at the last meeting. "We in the Village of Third Lake are concerned about rapid growth in our county. One only needs to travel through surrounding areas to come to a conclusion on the type of growth desirable to our mutual residents. In reviewing the current zoning variance requested by the Village of Gurnee, we in Third Lake have concerns about the proposed density which does not seem to take into consideration current land use patterns in the surrounding area," the letter said.

Resident complains

LAKE ZURICH --- In another attempt to stop a proposed 24-hour gas station from being built, a Lake Zurich resident has filed a complaint with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. Resident Kristine Short said she filed a complaint with the IEPA regarding the amount of oil flowing onto her property from the former gas station at the corner of Rtes. 12 and 22. Short said she was concerned about the former proprietors' practice of holding old oil and whether he had simply dumped the oil in the rear portion of the property.

Blood drive

GRAYSLAKE---Grayslake Dist. 46 will be hosting a blood drive Nov. 30 at Grayslake Junior High. The blood drive will be conducted by United Blood Services from 2:30 to 7:30 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling Peg Koch at (708) 223-7463.

Thanksgiving gifts

LAKE VILLA---Needy families in Lake Villa Twp. are receiving assistance from several groups this week to help make their Thanksgiving holiday special. Lake Villa Twp. Supv. Sue Hanson said she has a list of 44 families who will be provided for with food from one or a combination of donations from the township's new food pantry, the Antioch Rotary Club, the Lake Villa Lions Club or ERA Woodland Realty. Hanson received calls from all of the groups as they were searching for families to help this year.

Graduates Update

Karl Eckardt of Spring Grove is a member of the Elmhurst College football team. Eckardt, a 6-3 defensive tackle is a junior majoring in business administration. He is a 1987 graduate of Richmond-Burton High School and is the son of George and Judi Eckardt of Spring Grove.

Also at Elmhurst, Marilyn Peterson of Lake Zurich is a member of the Bluejays' women's basketball team. Peterson, a freshman majoring in marketing, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Peterson of Lake Zurich. Peterson was also a member of this fall's tennis team and received an Elmhurst College freshman scholar award. The basketball team's first home game is Dec. 5 against Illinois Benedictine College. Elmhurst is a member of the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin (CCIW).

Grant High School graduate Mike Kazlauskis is in his sophomore year at the Air Force Academy. Kazlauskis was an honorable mention all Western Athletic Conference baseball player and led the Air Force in hitting last year with a .426 average. He started every game for the Falcons, 9-9 in the WAC.

Lake County has two representatives on the Illinois State University wrestling team. Warren grad Mike Freckling, who finished second in the state last year at 152 pounds, is a 158 pound wrestler for the Redbirds as is Libertyville High graduate Brian Paramski.

Lori Homan, an Ingleside resident, is a member of the cross country team at Northeast Missouri State. Homan is a freshman.

Balanced attack helps Lancers, Smith notches 500th career victory

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The line was vintage Dr. Bruce Smith. "Write about the kids," Smith said as he was questioned about another coaching milestone.

Saturday Smith reached win number 500 as his team defeated Oakton in the CLC Tip-Off tournament 92-85. The day was one to remember all around for CLC hoops fans as the Lancers won their tourney with three wins in 24 hours. It was the second straight title for CLC.

Smith is in his 21st year at the Grayslake school and can remember the days when games were played at the Armory in Waukegan. He has garnered 310 wins of his half-century of victories in junior college basketball, but does not have shoe contracts, nor is he constantly seen on TV commercials. That's not Smith's style - he would prefer to quietly get the job done.

The Lancers, led by sophomore Greg Green's most valuable player performances and a successful JUCO debut by Warren grad Cory Statham downed Highland, Oakton and University of Wisconsin - Waukesha in the sweep.

"I thought our defense played very well. We played man-to-man the whole way," Smith said.

CLC competes in the Harper Thanksgiving tournament Nov. 24 and 25. CLC battles Wright at 6 p.m. Nov. 24.

Losers of first round games play at 3 p.m. Nov. 25 with winners at 5 p.m.

Statham, a 175 pound 6-4 forward, started his junior college career with a 20-point outing against Highland. After scoring 16 points against Oakton, Statham responded with a 33-point, 17 rebound outburst against Waukesha. He was named to the all-tournament team.

Statham, a major force in Warren's Sweet Sixteen team the second half of last year, said he was undecided about college ball when Smith approached him over the off-season.

"Coach Bader (Darrel) and Chimino (Len) gave me a lot of confidence," Statham said.

Statham said it helps the transition to college hoops playing with fellow Warren grad Nick Stianos, who had 14 points before injuring an ankle in the opener.

"It's just like another season," Statham said.

In the tourney finale against Waukesha, the former Blue Devil came through when CLC needed it the most.

The Waukesha team, complete with Milwaukee Bucks look-alike uniforms, had closed a 10-point CLC lead to four, 73-69.

But Statham then was a perfect five-for-five from the free throw-line, allowing the home team to gain an 80-73 advantage with 1:38 left.

Against Highland, it was Stianos who keyed an early lead with eight of CLC's first 19 points in a 19-12 start. The Cougars rallied and tied the game at 37 at halftime.

Highland went to a zone defense in the second half and CLC, led by eight points by Alvin Horton and two baskets by Statham led 55-47 with 12:03 left.

A three-pointer by Green gave the Lancers a seemingly safe lead at 70-59 with 2:23 left.

But Highland, remembering it successfully overcame a seven-point CLC lead in the final seconds last year, put on a rush. A three-pointer with 20 seconds left cut the lead to four, but this time CLC held on.

Against Skyway Conference foe Oakton, the Lancers put on a three-point show for a Saturday morning crowd. Grayslake High grad Mark Bussone, a sophomore, led the way with five three-pointers in a 21-point outing. Green had four and Antioch product Ryan Coskey had two three pointers.

CLC led just 42-41 at halftime against the fellow Skyway Conference team before taking over in the second half.

Against Waukesha, the Lancers had a rough start, missing their first 10 shots. But CLC recovered as a three-pointer by Green got them going. The Lancers led 42-35 at halftime and opened a 12-point lead early in the second stanza.

Schad happy to be back on Grant High sidelines

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When John Schad last was in charge of a varsity basketball program at Grant High School, there were no three-point plays, point tenths of a second on NBA clocks, players who were 7-0 and could dunk behind their heads.

For Schad began a successful 14-year career as Grant boys head coach in 1961, when everyone was wearing crewcuts.

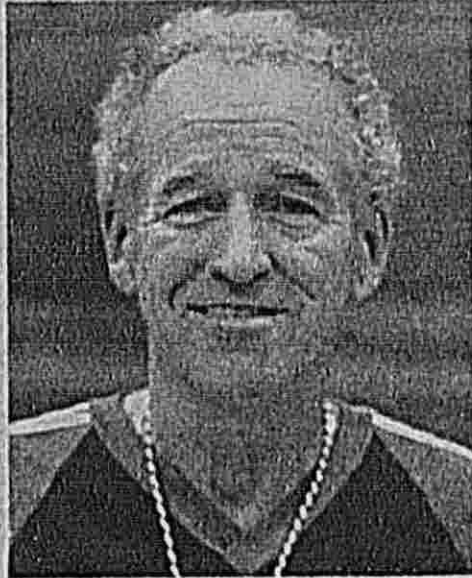

"I didn't realize how much I missed it until I started to get back into it," Schad said.

The likeable Schad, who turned over the varsity boys program to Tom Maple in 1975, is back on the Grant sidelines this winter. This time, he is in charge of the girls program. Sue Richardson, after coaching three sports a year for several years, decided not to coach hoops this year, although she is still in charge of volleyball and softball.

"I'm pleased with the attitude and the work ethic the girls have," Schad said of his first 10 days back.

The Bulldogs, like all girls teams, were practicing feverishly to prepare for this week's openers but Grant's was sooner than most - Nov. 14 against Dundee-Crown in Fox Lake. Grant competes in the Harvard tournament this weekend.

"I feel that we can win every game. I was that way when I coached before. With the proper preparation, so I go into each game feeling confident we can win no matter who the opponents are," he said.

Schad has coached many of those who hold Grant High records. Asked to select an all-Grant contingent, he picked Leo Oler, Al Calonde, Bob Harrison and Buz Soderman at guards and center Sam Reimers, Glenn Smith and Jeff Schad were reserves.

Jeff, a 1970 Grant graduate, is, in fact, has carried on the Schad coaching tradition as he is head man at Stillman Valley High.

Schad, who is also head golf coach at Grant, said his Waukegan High Coach Strings Allen was instrumental in his getting into coaching.

"He stressed man-to-man defense and working for good shots," the former Waukegan High forward said.

As for this year's Grant team, Schad is counting on senior letterwinner Jenny Loring to direct the offense along with junior Debbie Selle.

Senior Amy Nelson, a 5-9 center, and 5-9 junior forward Tammy Fisher, a volleyball standout, are expected to provide the scoring punch from the middle.

Senior Denise Barr has shown good defensive skills so far, according to Schad.

Junior Melissa Raasch and Jenny Arnold, a transfer from Crystal Lake Central, are also hoping to contribute.

Elsewhere as girls basketball begins this week, Warren, Stevenson and Libertyville all won regionals last year but will all have to replace key players this year. Gone are familiar faces Crystal Cobb (Warren), Shannon Stanek (Libertyville) and Susan Musselwhite (Mundelein).

Mundelein, 16-9 last year, will be hosting a girls tournament again after a year lapse. The Mustangs' tournament begins Nov. 21 with McHenry and Warren clashing at 6 p.m., with Wauconda, an up and coming team last year, and Mundelein meeting at 7:30 p.m.

After taking two days off for Turkey eating, the tourney resumes Nov. 24 with Warren and Wauconda battling at 1 p.m. and McHenry and Mundelein at 2:30 p.m.; the round-robin tourney concludes Nov. 25 with Wauconda and McHenry at 1 p.m. and NSC faces Warren and Mundelein at 2:30 p.m.

Warren, in the first year of A.C. (After Cobb) won the tourney both years it was held previously.

Double duty: Johnsburg athletic director Jim Meyers and Mundelein counterpart John Graham will know what they will be doing already in the post-Thanksgiving days: running both boys and girls tournaments. That should keep them in the gym from noon to 10 p.m.

CLC women's squad boasts much experience

By STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

A year ago, if someone had asked College of Lake County women's basketball Coach Don Zeman to line up his players at a practice for a team photo, he may have had trouble finding five players.

The team only had seven players and conflicts meant practices with three or four players were not uncommon.

This winter, the team photo has two full rows and more importantly to Zeman, 11 experienced players.

"All 11 players have played four years of basketball. This year we can scrimmage five-on-five," Zeman said.

The team returns the top two returning scorers from Zeman's first team. Sophomores Teri Huntington, who averaged 21.6 points a game and Crystal Payne, a Zion-Benton Twp. High School grad, who averaged 17.8 points a game, lead the sophomores.

"Both are showing some real strength around the basket," Zeman said.

Tina McBride, a 5-7 guard, is the third second-year player on the squad.

Warren grad Jenny Marker and Zion-Benton standout Susan Spiller are expected to be the starting guards. The two had many a NSC battle in their high school days, with Marker's highlight playing on the Warren 1987-88 Elite Eight squad.

Antioch graduate Kelly Doyle, at 5-8, should give the Lancers rebounding strength, Zeman stated.

The Candace Blanton, one of four Waukegan West graduates, will be the team's three-point threat. "Shooting the three-pointer in college may be more difficult for her."

1989-90 CLC women's squad

College of Lake County's 1989-90 women's basketball team is preparing for the season opening Harper tournament. Team members are, first row from left: Susan Spiller, Jessica Elsner, Tina McBride, Cindy Hirvela, Karen Gust and Kelly Gust. Second row: Jenny Marker, Crystal Payne, Teri Huntington, Kelly Doyle, Candace Blanton and Coach Don Zeman.

Brunswick, Sanders enjoy coaching alma maters

STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

No, the theme song to "Welcome Back, Kotter" is not played in the teachers' lounge at Richmond-Burton Scott Brunswick enters.

"I live on the same street I was born in," Richmond-Burton Coach Scott Brunswick said.

Brunswick said he has "seen it all" in 17 basketball years, including a contest in his sophomore year in which Marengo scored more than 100 points.

Brunswick, who teaches at Richmond Grade School, is a lifelong resident of Richmond and graduated from the high school in 1967.

"It's a nice place to raise kids," Brunswick, whose coaching experience includes the Rockets girls, R-B underclass levels and at nearby Alden-Hebron High.

Brunswick, who played golf at Monmouth College, and Sanders both introduce the city's youngsters to being a Rocket or Wildcat early. Richmond has a Saturday morning program for first through fourth graders while Libertyville has a summer camp starting in the second grade.

"We have smaller balls and have lower baskets for them. We get 50 to 60 kids a Saturday," Brunswick said.

"We've had a good basketball team here for about one in 10 years. There is no reason for that," Brunswick, who has set a goal of 20 wins this season, said.

Max Sanders

Libertyville's Max Sanders, is also looking forward to a successful year as he completes a quarter-century of service to LHS.

"We're looking toward this one with a real positive attitude. The boys have been practicing that way, too," Sanders said.

Sanders, a 25-year LHS veteran and former assistant football coach, sets realistic goals each year for his club. When the talent is not there for a given year, such as 1987-88, he accepts that.

"We have our goals set this year and one of them is to win the conference. We feel the feasibility is there. The big thing is to do well in the conference and everything else will take care of itself. In our league, the conference is everything except for the Thanksgiving and Christmas tournaments because you don't have many non-conference games," Sanders said.

Sanders said Libertyville, especially, emphasizes the student portion of the student athlete. "We always have had a good group of kids who are good student-athletes. They enjoy sports. In 11 years as head coach, I have never lost a kid to eligibility," Sanders said with pride.

Jon Hamberg, when wearing No. 35, is a senior center. During the school day, he is on the state mathematics team.

One of the rewards of coaching is watching some of the good players we have had go on and do well in college basketball. Another reward is having a kid come back and say "thankyou," Sanders said.

Sanders learned from some of the best. At Bradley University, he was a reserve on a team which included future NBA great Chet "The Jet" Walker.

Todd Addams, last year's leading scorer, is a walk-on at Eastern Illinois University. Sanders said Addams originally planned to red-shirt, but early-season Panther injuries may mean the former Wildcat will see some playing time this winter.

Another LHS grad, Jim Ford, played forward for Valparaiso and was in the top 10 rebounding in scoring in school history. "He was 6-5 but I played him a lot at off-guard. I think that helped him at Valpo especially in his outside shooting," Sanders said.

The Wildcats' 1981-82 team advanced to the sectional finals. The Wildcats, even when they have had their better teams, have had a tough road in the post-season. The Libertyville, Mundelein, Carmel and Warren regional has produced four super-sectional teams in the last five years.

"Your number one priority has got to be with students. It should be one that they will look back on and enjoy. We have alumni come back all the time. Maybe we will get a two-on-two game or a three-on-three game going after practice with the alumni games. You develop some real closeness with your players," Sanders said.

Sanders said being a coaches' son helped. "The players were always over at my Dad's house. You got to know them as individuals instead of just as teacher-student," he said.

Rosberg, Carmel stress patient offensive attack

by BRENT KILLACEY

Lakeland Newspapers

It's that time of the year once again.

A time for family gatherings, turkey dinners, and the start of the high school basketball season.

But things are looking a little behind for Carmel High School basketball team. Because the football team was able to advance so far in the playoffs (eliminated in the Class 5A Quarterfinals on Nov. 4) the basketball tryouts were preempted.

Carmel Coach Scott Rosberg was left with only a few weeks in which to prepare his team for the regular season which starts Nov. 24.

"It's frustrating early on because there is not the execution that a coach always expects," Rosberg, a third year Head Coach said.

Rosberg said Carmel is playing a different type of basketball than the transitional, fast paced game of last year.

"I think we're going to be more of a half-court team than a full court type of team," he said. "If you want to slow a game down, you'll slow it down to half-court basketball."

"The advantage to it will be we'll control the ball more."

"I don't think it's a weakness at all. I think it's just a different way of playing the game," added Rosberg.

Carmel is also changing to an outside game.

"I think our strength is going to be our perimeter game."

"This is going to be a team that's going to be much more oriented to patient offense and will have to step up and shoot a jump shot," Rosberg said.

"We're going to get points inside, but we'll get a lot of those points inside by drawing the defense out."

Rosberg cited youth as the team's biggest obstacle.

"We're an inexperienced team. Only one kid has had any meaningful minutes on the varsity level, and that's Eric Maloney," said Rosberg.

Even with Maloney, Carmel still doesn't have a "big guy to rebound."

"We also don't have the kind of players that can play the man-to-man full court pressure that we had last year," Rosberg added.

But even plagued by all these problems, Rosberg is still optimistic and said, "we're going to be O.K."

"I would like to get us in one of the top three spots," Rosberg said. "The goal at the end of the season is to play well in the state tournament."

Carmel's opener was at the Warren Thanksgiving Varsity Basketball Tournament against Palatine Fremd.

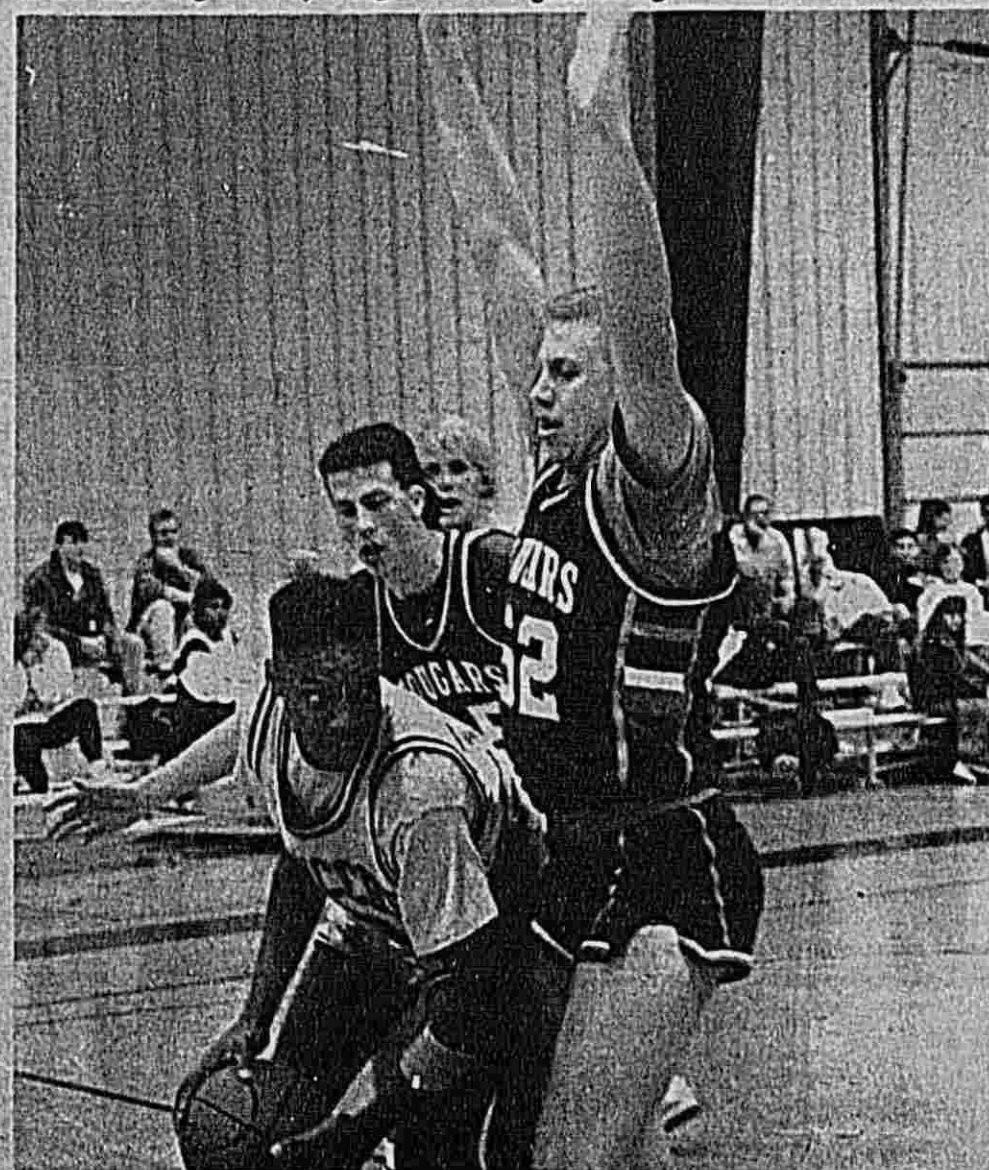

"They're always good, they're always strong. They'll be a real test for us for the first night," Rosberg said.

Rosberg came to Carmel as an English teacher in 1982. He was a freshmen coach for two years, a sophomore coach for a year, and an assistant varsity for two years before taking the helm.

"I love to see the kids work at something they don't want to do and then to see that thing that they thought was a waste of time put into play in a game, have it work and have them succeed because of it," Rosberg said. "That's a great feeling."

Eight could be enough for Panthers' title hopes

Last November at this time, when reporters asked Round Lake basketball Coach Bob Ward his thoughts on the upcoming basketball season, patience and improvement were two of his top response.

This year, with eight returning lettermen off last year's 12-15 team, the Panthers are using expectations and experience as their watchwords.

"We are a lot further ahead than we were at this time last year. Having eight lettermen back and having three sophomores with varsity experience makes a big difference," Ward said after another practice.

The Elite Eight of Round Lake are led by 6-6 senior center Scott Hall, who looks to dominate Northwest Suburban Conference foes this winter. Based on that number of returnees, the Panthers, although no one asked, have been selected as the pre-season favorite to win the NWSC. The Panthers are shooting for their second title in three years.

"He was real consistent for us last year and he has made some nice progress this year," Ward said of Hall.

Last year the Panthers led the county with 103 three-point baskets, led by Troy Haines.

Hall's inside play is complimented by two talented guards - Garrett Horn and Mark Dittmer along with the top soph guard Brian Smith.

Swingman Taylor Fiene, wing player Wally Illg all return for Round Lake.

Backing up Hall in the paint area should be 6-3 Van Thomas and Dave Burton, 6-2.

Despite the experience, Ward, in his sixth year at Round Lake, knows there is still work to be done before the Panthers compete this weekend in their own Thanksgiving tournament.

"We still have a ways to go," Ward said.

Last year's highlights included beating Grayslake two out of three times, including an upset overtime win the regional. Ward sees Marengo and Grant as top challengers to the Panthers this winter.

One-on-one battle

Round Lake's Dave Burton and Marx Drath perfect their skills during defensive drill in practice. Panthers, pre-season favorites in Northwest Suburban Conference, open season with own tournament.

Antioch ready to take center stage in NSC wars

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

It is not unusual for basketball coaches to be touting team togetherness this time of the season as a team strength. That's what, at all levels, from the NBA to junior high, hoops coaches are after - that special mix that will blend well with natural talent.

Sometimes, that is just lip service as competition for starting positions takes over. But not at Antioch.

One day during the pre-season practices, all the Sequoits decided to pay a visit to Lakeland Barber Shop in Antioch.

"This is a close knit group," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

The Sequoits come into the new campaign with two leading scores from last year's squad, which was 10-8 in the North Suburban Conference.

The combination of Matt Pelland and Jeff Becker coupled with two strong guards off the junior varsity team has led Lakeland Newspapers to tab Antioch as the pre-season pick in the NSC this winter.

Dresser said: "It was hard to keep them off the floor," before the pre-season started.

Pelland, a 6-5 senior center, led last year's team with 283 rebounds, 10.9 per game to go along with 12.8 points a contest.

"He's an aggressive rebounder and he will be asked to control the lane on offense and defense," Dresser said.

Becker, at 6-2 was named last year's most improved player. He scored 143 points a game for a 5.5 average. He shot 56 percent from the free-throw line. "We are looking for Jeff to help open up the middle with the help of his outside shot," Dresser said.

Carl Galdine and Ken Mattson are two guard coming off the junior varsity squad. Galdine was a 57 percent shooter, averaging 6.6 points and two assists for the junior varsity squad. "Galdine is a good ballhandler and must emerge as our strong point guard," Dresser said.

Mattson averaged 7.7 points per game and shot 51 percent from the field. "He is a good outside shooter and good defender. He will help at the shooting guard position," Dresser said.

Ed Haley and Scott Rojas were the second-leading scorer and rebounding leaders for the junior varsity team. Haley, a 6-1, 178 pound small forward, averaged 7.3 points a game. Rojas, at 6-3, led the junior varsity in rebounding with 4.5 a game.

Matt Aschbacher, a senior, played hockey last year but impressed the coaching staff enough in summer and pre-season drills to earn a spot on the team.

Jeremy Lee, a 6-0 guard, has good ballhandling skills, Dresser said.

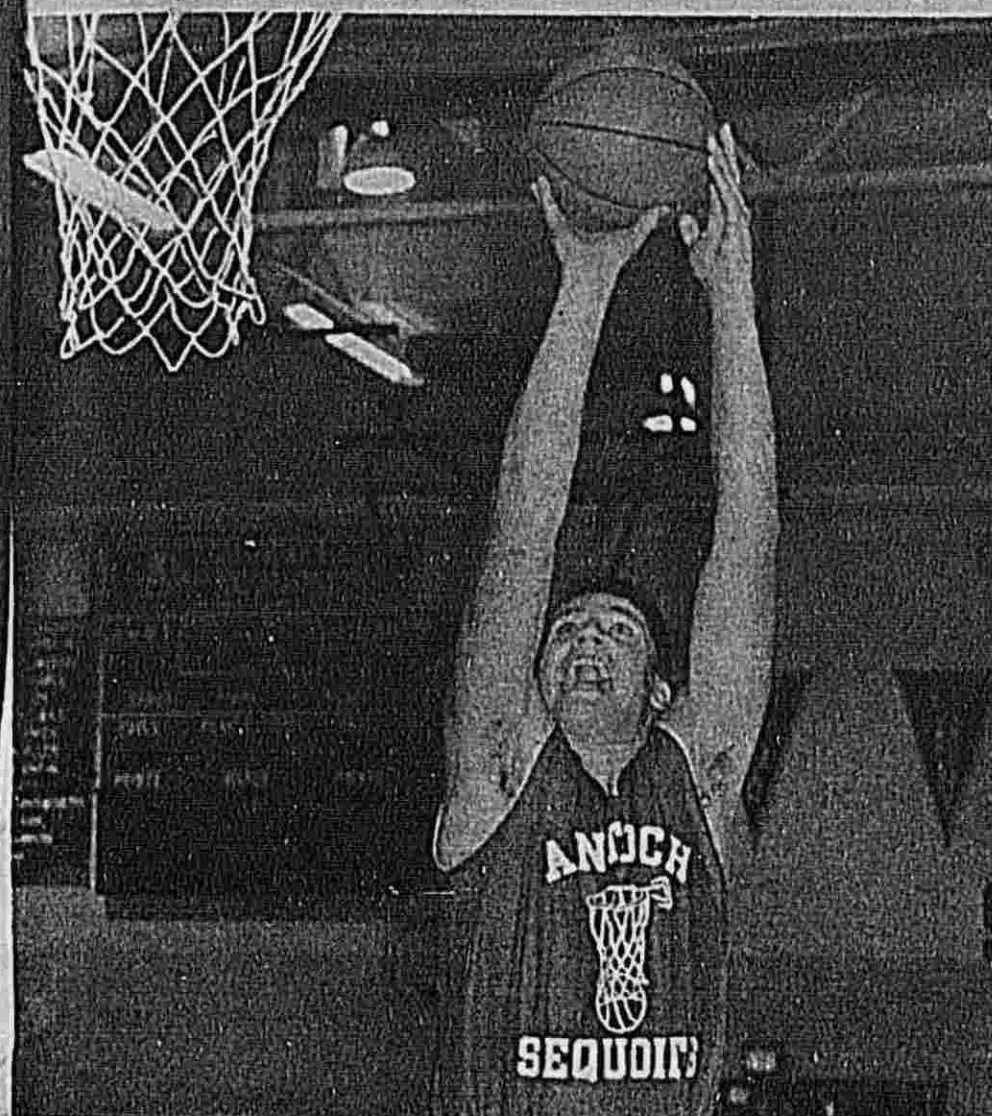

Up from the sophomore team last year is a group of juniors looking to contribute. They are led by Mike Newcomb, a 6-3 guard who shot 72 percent from the free throw line and made 31 percent from three-point range.

Steve Manderscheid, a 6-1 junior, led the sophs with assists with 61, 3.4 a game.

Keith Walker could provide depth at forward as he led the sophomores with 10.3 points a game, had 102 rebounds and was second in steals.

Dresser, a long-time assistant coach under Roger Andrews, has also invested more than lip service to the Antioch community. The Northern Illinois University graduate is now an Antioch area landowner, owning an acre and a half at Fairfield and Monaville Rds.

But starting with the Rockford Guilford Thanksgiving the only land Dresser will be interested in will be 94 feet long.

Closing in on basket

Coaching hoops dream come true for RL's Ward

By STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Bob Ward came north to rebuild the Round Lake boys basketball team, he may have wondered at first what he was getting himself into.

After serving as an assistant under John Neishelm at Lake Zurich and running his own program at Class A Spring Valley, Ward ventured north.

"I do not see a heckuva big difference in kids. We had a real good group of athletes at Lake Zurich in the late 1970s and early 1980s," Ward recalled.

A history major at Northern Illinois University, basketball coaching was a life-long dream for him. He could often be seen in the neighborhood park in St. Charles practicing free-throws or layups.

Ward brought the Panthers to the brink of .500 his first year and since has won 20 or more games twice, won a conference and regional title.

"We're starting to see kids make progress through the clinics for kids to the varsity," Ward said.

Ward, now in his sixth year as Round Lake mentor, has won 60 percent of his contests. Players like Brian Horn, Tim Unroe, Brian Richardson, all have played key roles in that success.

One of the keys is starting young players with the Panther system early. Ward has strong ties with coaches in the elementary schools in Round Lake, and they incorporate much of the offenses and defenses the young players will see as practice.

"After a year, you sit down with the kids and see if you played or coached as well as you possibly could have," Ward said.

Following the season, Ward is not one to get out the golf clubs and head to the local links. He can be seen at many of the sectional and super-sectional games, enjoying the contest as a fan.

"It's a real fraternity," Ward said of the friendships among coaches.

In the off-season, Ward, has a two-to-three week "basketball withdrawal" time when before the tour of the clinics begin.

"You pick up a little bit from everyone. You just get a chance to talk to other coaches. It's a motivator," Ward said.

Ward has seen his fair share of thrillers - a 56-55 win over Grant for the regional title two years ago, an overtime win in a regional contest against Grayslake last year are just two examples.

But through it all, Ward and his assistants, Brian Brown and Ron Sapochak's love for the game shines through.

Area coaches have a wide variety of playing experiences, a survey showed.

Grayslake Coach Greg Groth had the opportunity to learn hoops from some of the best while at Rich East High School. Groth's high school coaches include Steve Fisher, now at NCAA champion Michigan and Wichita State Coach Gene Smithson and Less Wohike.

Antioch High School coach Jeff Dresser played at Rockford Guilford and ran cross country in college.

Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel was a small college

All-American at Cathage College in Kenosha for Coach Jay Burris and played baseball for Auggie Schmidt. "I think I learned a lot from them," Kessel said.

North Chicago boys coach Joe Wharton has coached at junior high, underclass and varsity levels. Playing for Evanston High, he sank the shot which eliminated North Chicago in 1972. Wharton's 1977 team won the Nebraska Class 4 title.

As another season opens, a few reflections on the past four seasons: Lake County hoops fans have been able to enjoy a hotbed of basketball as four Lakeland area teams have advanced to the Sweet Sixteen in the last six years - Carmel twice and Warren twice. Unfortunately, the area has not won a "biggie" since Antioch won its Super Sectional contest in 1983 to advance to the Elite Eight.

Antioch and Round Lake are our picks to win the North Suburban and Northwest Suburban Conference, but beginning with a busy Thanksgiving weekend, the 1989-90 season promises to be a competitive one, indeed.

One final note: coming in December, there is an event for those who wish to see basketball played at a different level than your typical high school contest.

The Knights of Columbus Precious Blood Council 9689 of Grayslake is presenting the Mid-Season Lake County Basketball and Cheerleading Invitational Championships.

A four tournament event wrapped into one, schools from Lake, Cook and McHenry counties will compete. The tournament, to be played at the College of Lake County, will be run for the boys Sat., Dec. 16 and Sunday, Dec. 17 and Friday, Dec. 22 and Saturday, Dec. 23.

A girls tourney will be held along with a free-throw competition for 10-14 year-old youths Saturday, Jan. 20, Sunday, Jan. 21, Sat.

Jan. 27 and Sunday, Jan. 28.

The tournament is based around the Keith Ryan Pride and School Spirit Award. The award, a three and one-half foot high trophy will be awarded to the school that exemplifies the highest extreme of moral and ethical character of teams, cheerleaders and fans.

The tournament, organized by Norm Kleber, has grown in scope and structure since it was first hosted at Round Lake High in 1986. More than 30 boys teams and 20 girls teams will participate.

Antioch outlook

Also returning is Jeff Becker, a 6-2 senior forward. Described as the most improved player by Dresser, Becker scored 143 points with a 5.5 average last year. Carl Galdine, the top guard off the junior varsity team, returns as well as top shooter Ken Mattson, who averaged 7.7 points a game. Scott Rojas and Mike Newcomb, both 6-3, could give Antioch more inside power.

Round Lake outlook

Head Coach: Bob Ward.

Coach's experience: sixth year.

Last year's record: 12-15.

Last year's Northwest Suburban Conference record: 5-9, fifth place.

Key players lost: Rick Haines, Doug Watts, Jason Day.

Thanksgiving tournament. Zion-Benton has replaced Dundee-Crown.

Outlook: Panthers figure to be back on top in NWSC this year. With eight letterwinners back, the Round Lake club has experience. Senior Scott Hall, 6-5, leads the way. Guard-forward Wally Illg and Horn saw action on the varsity as sophomores. Van Thomas, a 6-3 forward, Dave Burton, a 6-2 forward, should add scoring punch.

Libertyville outlook

Head Coach: Max Sanders.
Last year's record: 15-11.
Last year's North Suburban Conference record: 10-8, fifth place tie.
Key player lost to graduation: Todd Addams.
Key returning players: Shawn Stanek, 5-8 senior guard; Steve Lowry, 6-1 senior guard-forward; Jon Hamberg, 6-4 senior center.

Outlook: "They have worked hard all ready in practice so I know that will be their personality of good hard work," Sanders said.
"I always give the starting spots at the beginning of the season to my seniors. My theory on that is that the seniors have worked for four years so they have earned that starting spot until the junior can beat them out," Sanders said.
Sanders said he will be using a senior based starting lineup to commence the season. That means Hamberg will man the pivot, Nate Addams and Stanek at guards, 6-2 Scott Moore and 6-1 Chris Lang at guard and forward, coming off the bench.

"I do feel we have some junior people who will be really putting a lot of pressure on them," Sanders said.
Sanders said the Libertyville program is back on track with the juniors going 22-2 as sophomores.
"The thing they can contribute is size," Sanders said, pointing to 6-5 center Brian Davis and identical twins 6-4 Andy and Jon Bauer, 6-3 guard Matt Williams and 6-3 forward Scott Keegan.

"They will give us good depth. One thing we will have this year, more than anyone else in the league, is depth in our bench, which in the course of a long season, can play an important part," Sanders, in his 25th year at Libertyville, 11th year as head coach, said.
The coach pointed to North Chicago, Zion-Benton and defending champ Warren as teams to beat in the NSC.

Warren outlook

Head Coach: Darrel Bader
Last year's record: 24-6
North Suburban Conference record: 15-3 (first place).
Coach's experience: 12 years.
Coach's record: 235-112.
Key seniors lost to graduation: Qasim Dominquez, Mark Elfert, Nick Stianos.
Key returnees: Dave Spiller, Mark Sasser, Craig Shelton.

Outlook: "Each team develops its own identity," Bader said during a practice.
Warren may have lost most of its inside game of its second straight Sweet Sixteen team, but NSC coaches are still wary of the Blue Devils.
The Blue Devils will benefit by opening its season with a rarity - three home games in its tournament. Usually, Warren does not have its third home game until January.

Patriots field young team

Stevenson: Fielding one of the youngest teams in the conference, coach George Katich looks for someone to lead the Patriots.
"We're young," Katich said point blank. "It's just a matter of who's going to step out and lead."
That leadership may come from sophomores Chris Coleman and Eric Roth. With a front line of 6-3 straight across, the Patriots will also have one of the smaller teams.
Despite the odds, Katich is expecting to see steady improvement through the year.

Stevenson outlook

Coach: George Katich
Record at Stevenson: 37-56
Experience: 5th season
Lettermen lost: ten
Lettermen returning: two
Key returnees: Jason Wits (6-2 swingman), Todd Wales (6-3 forward)
Coaches comment: I think we can surprise some people
Outlook: Fifth year coach George Katich will be looking for someone to step out and lead this group of young Patriots. With only two returning lettermen, the Pats field an inexperienced, as well as a slightly undersized, team.
However, the lack of experience on the varsity level is turning out to be a good omen in early practices, Katich said.

"They're a very coachable group," he said. "They're also an extremely hard working group."
Katich will have senior Todd Wales, a 6-3 back at forward. Filling out the front line will be a pair of sophomores, Eric Roth, a 6-3 center and Chris Coleman, a 6-3 swingman.
In the backcourt, only 6-0 Boomer Whipple appears to have nailed down a starting spot with the other going to Jason Wits or Ron Smith.
"They're very inexperienced," Katich said. "But they're definitely going to improve."

Mustangs aiming for NSC respectability

Mundelein: the start of the basketball season is always important, but even more so at Mundelein this winter.

The Mustangs are seeking to regain respectability in the North Suburban Conference.

Shawn Harlan, a 6-3 senior, is the top returnee from last year's squad which won just two league games and struggled to a 6-20 finish.

"The spirit is good and the attitude is good. We have some kids who have worked hard in the off-season to improve their skills," Kessel said.

Harlan, who averaged nine points a game last year, will be seeing a different role this year.

"Shawn will be playing inside rather than at guard on defense," Kessel said.

"A lot depends on how we do early. If we get started well, we can gain confidence," the coach said.

Kessel said he is looking for big things out of junior forward 6-1 Joe Tray and sophomore Alvin Cruz.

Cruz was a bright spot in defense in a winless Mundelein football season.

Transfer student Macial Marquez, a 5-11 junior guard and 6-1 junior forward Kevin Sekensk, 6-2 senior center Don Cromie, 5-8 junior guard Brian Rafferty are all expected to see playing time.

As far as practices, Kessel said he does not try and put everything in before the season opener.

"We work on a couple of different defenses and the man-to-man offenses," Kessel said.

The Mustangs conducted a team scrimmage but with young players trying to impress the coaching staff, it was difficult to tell who fared well.

As far as the NSC race is concerned, Kessel, likes the prospects for Fenton and Libertyville because of their returning players from last year and "North Chicago and Warren cannot be ruled out."

Mundelein outlook

Head Coach: Dennis Kessel.

Last year's record: 6-20.

Last year's North Suburban Conference record: 2-16.

Key player lost: J.T. Mathwig.

Key returnees: junior guard Shawn Harlan and junior forward Jeff Winckler.

Outlook: Kessel believes a strong start at Mundelein's own tournament could boost confidence.

Lake Zurich outlook

Coach: Doug Cook

Coaches' Experience: second year 1988-89 record: 7-17 (7th place in NWSC)

Lettermen lost: three

Lettermen returning: seven

Key returnees: Jack Denny, Eric Krause, Jeff Anderson

Coaches comment: "We'll do whatever it takes."

Outlook: Last season's debut season as head coach of Lake Zurich wasn't exactly a party for Doug Cook. The Bears finished 4-10 in the conference and 7-17 overall before bowing out in the first round of the playoffs.

But don't expect to find the Bears in the same spot this year.

"We laid the groundwork for what we want to do," Cook said of last season.

What the Bears and Cook want to do has become a singular goal.

Coach: David Gardner
Coaches' Experience: second year
1988-89 record: 1-23 (8th place in NWSC)
Lettermen lost: eight
Lettermen returning: six
Key returnees: Dion Niemo, Todd Schmidt, Jim Hovinen
Coaches comment: "we've got a more well rounded attack."

Outlook: Never mind that Wauconda didn't win a single conference game last season. Never mind that the Bulldogs won just one game all of last year. Second-year coach David Gardner is expecting bigger things out of this season's line-up.

"We've set goals for our team,"

Gardner said. "We're shooting just to be competitive in every game we play. If we can do that we'll be in it until the end."

Returning to the Bulldogs lineup is top scoring senior forward Dion Niemo, who finished last season with a 16 point average.

Gardner expects to see the same from Niemo, but will bolster his line-up with more fire power on offense.

"We have some kids this year that are going to offset Dion," he said. "This year we've got a more well rounded attack."

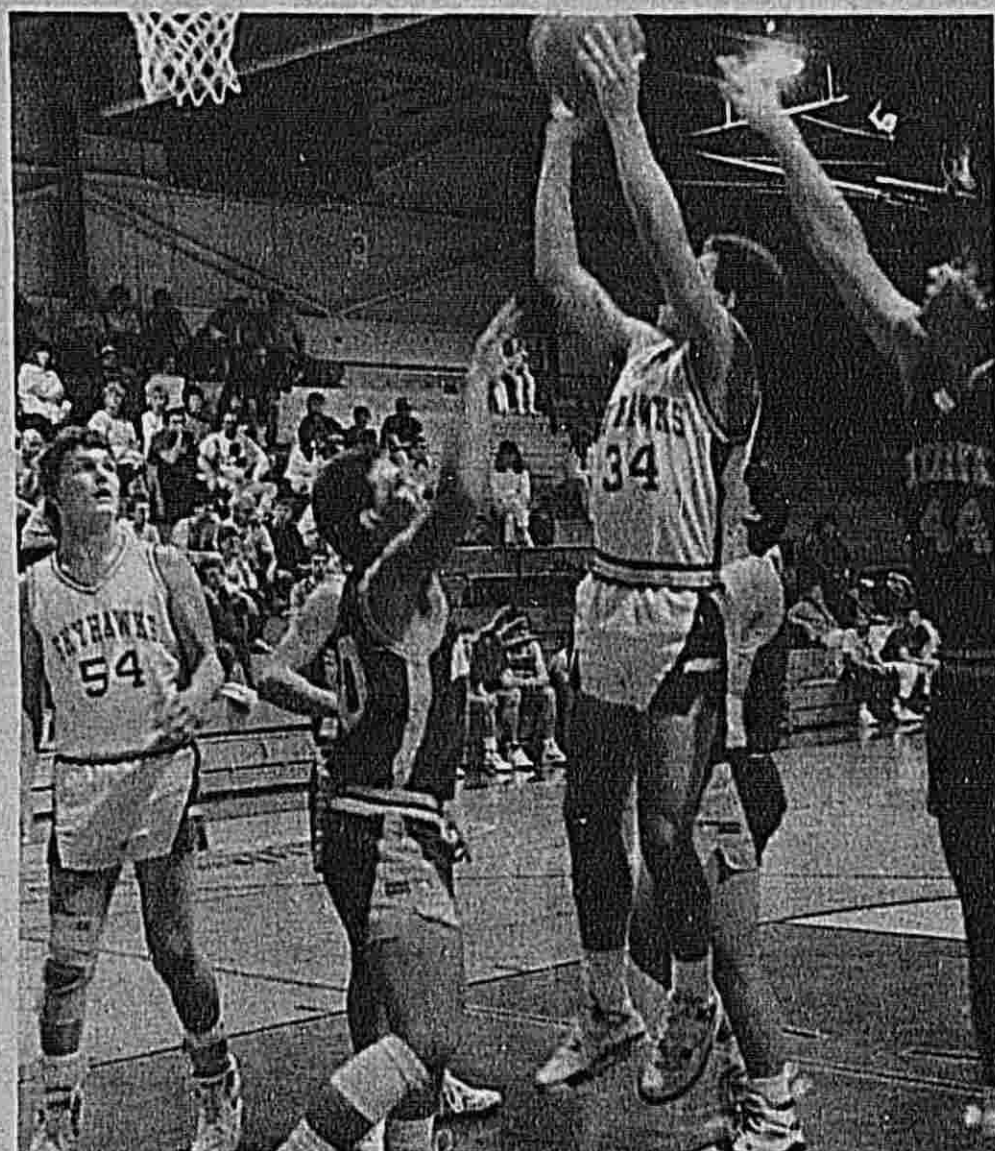

Part of that attack is the addition of Scott Suhr and Todd Schmidt, both 6-5 centers. Also returning to the Bulldogs is senior forward Jim Hovinen, who nursed an ankle injury through most of last season.

Defending champ Rams may have some surprises

Grayslake: history is a hot topic at Grayslake Community High School these days.

When the football team qualified for the state playoffs, Coach Bill Johnson had "Rams history" buttons made for team members.

A month later, Grayslake basketball Coach Greg Groth is also hoping to use history as a motivator.

"I find that winning breeds confidence. We've won 23 out of our last 28 Northwest Suburban Conference games. This team can continue a tradition by having a winning season for the third straight year. These kids expect to be good," Groth said.

The Rams are coming off a 17-9 season and a conference championship, but the seven players most responsible for that success have graduated. Familiar names Timm West, last year's Lakeland Newspapers Player of the Year, topped 18 points a game and is now at Knox College. Craig Katzenmaier, who filled in for West twice when the center was hurt, guards Jim Neuman and Tim Hough, Gary Hook, Steve Gundrum, sixth man

Corey Knigge all had important roles.

Only Mike Duchane, who was named co-MVP in football in the NWSC, and captains Brian Kavich and Jeremy Nakashima return.

"Kavich and Nakashima both went to three point camp and have improved as post players," Groth said.

Other seniors include guard Mark Goodman and Mike Leubke, 6-3 center Kyle Green and 6-0 forward John Brenner.

Juniors include guard Jim Silva, Nathan Roberts, Greg Janak and Terry Jones. "A lot of people will write us off, but we could surprise some people," Groth, in his fifth year as head coach at

Grayslake, said. A history of the NWSC in the 1980s shows how tough it is to repeat - the last three winners were Grant, Round Lake and the Rams.

Grayslake outlook

Head Coach: Greg Groth.
Last year's record: 17-9.
Last year's Northwest Suburban Conference record: 12-2, first place.
Coach's experience: four years.
Coach's record: 50-48.
Key players lost: Tim Hough, Timm West, Jim Neuman, Craig Katzenmaier, Corey Knigge, Steve Gundrum.

Key returnees: Brian Kavich, Jeremy Nakashima (captains), Mike Duchane.
Outlook: Rams are hoping to become third straight team with winning record. Coach Groth believes if this team avoid injuries and gets a few breaks, a few surprises could be in store for NWSC foes.

Skyhawks to start anew

Johnsburg: it was not the kind of news Johnsburg boys basketball Coach Jeff Lewiston wanted to start the season with.

Ken Calhoun, a 6-4 senior forward, will be out for the first portion of the new season with an injured right knee. The Skyhawks received further bad news when Jason Schuler, a 6-3 forward was hospitalized because of the flu.

Still, two returning guards, stability and the best record in his four years at JHS has Jeff Lewiston optimistic about the coming season.

Eric Toussaint, a senior, returns at point guard to lead the Skyhawks offense.

"He has to be more of a complete player," Lewiston said.

Tony Musur, another senior guard, is a good ballhandler with quickness, the fourth-year coach said.

The Skyhawks finished 9-

17 last year, but many of those losses were by five points or less. A rally to win a regional Class AA game against Woodstock helped highlighted the season.

Johnsburg will be looking to replace its top two scorers from last year, Trevor Hart and Tom Oeffling.

Center Brien Madsen, a 6-3 senior, is expected to man the Skyhawks inside attack. Junior forwards Dan DuFour, at 6-2, Paul Jargstorff at 6-0 are both good shooters.

Jim Neumann, a 6-6 center, saw action last year.

Lewiston said the team may be starting the season with a slightly slower pace on offense than the fastbreak style the team has used previously.

"We will want to keep the score down this year. The lower the point total, the better for us. We will go as far as our defense and patience will carry us," Lewiston said.

When Lewiston took over the Johnsburg program four years ago, he was the third coach in as many years after legendary Bob Kies retired.

"Last year we lost a lot of close games, but I think we gained the respect of the conference," Lewiston said.

The Skyhawks have notched big league wins in the last two years, beating conference champ Round Lake two years ago and then undefeated Grayslake last year.

"It's a challenge. The biggest thing is developing a winning attitude," Lewiston, who had 22 wins at Scales Mound and 17 at Waterman before coming to Johnsburg, said.

Lewiston is assisted by Dave Rigby and the royal blue and gold is looking forward to success based on a 20-4 record for last year's freshmen.

Johnsburg outlook

Key players lost to graduation: Trevor Hart and Alan Van Every.

Key returning players: 6-4 forward Ken Calhoun, senior; 6-0 guard Eric Toussaint, senior; 6-9 guard-forward Andy Head Coach: Jeff Lewiston.

Last year's record: 9-17.

Last year's Northwest Suburban Conference record: 4-10, tie for sixth place.

Davis, senior; 6-3 center Brien Madsen, senior.

Outlook: Skyhawks' suffered two major injuries even before the first tip of the new season when Calhoun and Schuler were hurt. That, coupled with having to replace a combined 39 points a game from Hart and Van Every could mean a long winter for the Skyhawks. But Coach Lewiston believes his team should not be overlooked.
